2,127 Slept in Vast Hangar of Biggest Carrier

This is the way H.M.S. Implacable's hangar decks looked at dawn Thursday off Victoria when more than 2,000 former prisoners of war arose for their first sight of Canadian shores. At Sydney, Australia, 80 planes were removed from Britain's biggest carrier and in their place 2,127 cots were placed. To avoid congestion the men dressed and breakfasted in groups of 500. First call to "up guard and steerage hammocks" sounded throughout the ship at 6 a.m. so that all uniformed passengers could complete their meal before entering Vancouver harbor. Including crew members Implacable carried 3,718 on the crossing. Additional pictures taken by Times cameraman Strickland on the trip from Victoria to Vancouver are shown on Page 2.

Crowds Break Past Dockyard Gates

This picture, taken from the gangway of the U.S. transport Gosper, which arrived in Esquimalt at 9 Thursday night with 454 Canadian and British repatriates, shows a part of the crowd which milled about the gangway for the most enthusiastic greeting yet given to ex-prisoners of war here. The crowd was good-tempered but a portion of a second large group at the gates broke past the guards to reach the docks. (See Page 7 for story of arrival.)

De Gaulle Not Ordering New Trial for Pierre Laval

By MEL MOST
PARIS (AP)—Gen. de Gaulle today apparently ruled out a new trial for Pierre Laval, sentenced to death Tuesday for treason. Asked at a news conference whether he would order a new trial for the former Vichy leader, convicted at a stormy, much-criticized trial for wartime collaboration with the Germans, Gen. de Gaulle replied: "Certainly not."

The Paris newspaper Liberation said it had information that present plans were to execute Laval Wednesday.

Earlier, Laval's counsel had said they had important new evidence which would "explode" the case against him.

The evidence, they said, would prove that Laval, former Vichy Chief of Government, was arrested by the Germans while attempting to turn his government over to Gen. de Gaulle.

Laval's counsel said documents smuggled out of France and hidden in Switzerland had been found and returned today. These, they said, showed Laval came to Paris at the beginning of August, 1944, to declare it an open city and to have Gen. de Gaulle officially receive by a meeting of Parliament.

Paris fell to the Allies Aug. 25 and Gen. de Gaulle entered the city the same day.

Laval's lawyers said the evidence would prove Laval drove all day and night to Nancy in northeastern France in order to free Edouard Herriot from German imprisonment and that he returned with Herriot to Paris where he obtained reinstatement for him as president of the Chamber of Deputies.

The lawyers said they could prove that Gestapo Chief Himmler personally ordered the arrest of Laval before he could carry through his plan.

The defence counsel said they would present the evidence directly to Gen. de Gaulle, who returned to Paris from Brussels today, and would appeal to him for a new trial.

During the trial both Laval and his lawyers left the courtroom and refused to be present at the proceedings which Laval had branded a "judicial crime."

Asks $2,000 Boost In Income of M.P.'s

OTTAWA (CP)—Expense allowances of $2,000 a year for members of the House of Commons, retroactive to Sept. 6, 1945, are provided for in a resolution tabled on the Commons order paper today in the name of Prime Minister King.

Members get annual indemnities of $4,000. The expense allowance would bring their total annual income to $6,000.

Talks With Mr. King

HON. HERBERT V. EVATT

LONDON (CP)—Dr. H. V. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, will leave for Washington shortly, following talks here with Prime Minister King on matters of mutual Dominion interest, it was learned today.

South African and New Zealand representatives are expected to meet the Canadian Prime Minister later.

Mr. King spent today handling his correspondence in his hotel suite here.

Strike Still On, Says Union Chief

WINNIPEG (CP)—Plans for a strike will not be canceled because of the action of the Dominion government in taking control of the five western plants of Burns and Company, Adam Borsk, field representative, United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), said here this afternoon.

"Unless the government negotiates with us for a master agreement or forces Burns and Company to negotiate one, we will strike," said Borsk.

Says Coal Mines To Reopen Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell announced this afternoon he was informed there is every indication that 9,000 striking coal miners in western Canada will return to work Monday.

Liquor Sales Up

REGINA (CP)—Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines said today revenue of the Saskatchewan Liquor Board in the six-month period, April-September, totaled $3,550,000, against $1,450,000 in the corresponding period of the 1943-44 fiscal year.

Committee On Outlays

OTTAWA (CP)—Acting Prime Minister Isley gave notice on the Commons order paper today that he would seek approval of appointment of a Parliamentary select committee of 25 members to examine expenditures for national defence, demobilization and disposal of war assets.

Streetcars Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Twenty-two persons were injured, eight seriously enough to warrant hospital treatment, when two streetcars crowded with men and women collided at the intersection of downtown Queen and Church Streets here today. A score or more received a shaking up in the accident.

Get Holiday Pay

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three hundred displaced workers at West Coast Shipbuilders here will receive three and a half hours' holiday pay on order of the Federal Department of Munitions and Supply, Sam Jenkins of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union (C.C.L.), said today. Mass layoffs here Aug. 16 caused the men to lose three and a half hours' holiday time to which they were entitled every four weeks.

Dominion Takes Over Burns Company Plants

Queen Elizabeth Carries Canadian Troops Home

LONDON (CP)—The Queen Elizabeth, world's largest liner, will begin "regular service" across the North Atlantic within 10 days repatriating Canadian servicemen to Canada, Canadian military headquarters announced today. It was assumed the 85,000-ton vessel would dock at Halifax.

(Queen Elizabeth was dry-docked at Esquimalt in 1942.)

The announcement was made a few hours after Alfred Barnes, Minister of War Transport, had announced in Commons that the Queen Elizabeth and the Aquitania, both of which have been carrying United States troops to New York, would henceforth be used for "British" personnel.

Headquarters stated only a few days ago that repatriation of Canadians during October and November would be slowed due to a lack of shipping. The likelihood now is that there will be a speed-up.

The length of the Queen's North Atlantic service was not stated, but it was reported unofficially at headquarters she would be carrying Canadians until the end of the year. That would provide passage for probably 75,000 troops.

The Queen Elizabeth's capacity as a troopship is almost 17,000 men and in service to New York she has a number of times carried an entire division.

The 2nd Canadian Division presumably will be the first troops to be sent home aboard her as most 2nd Division units now are in the United Kingdom awaiting transport.

J. W. Spencer, chairman of Vancouver Island Division of the National War Finance Committee.

The largest quota yet has been set for Vancouver Island in the Ninth Victory Loan, which will open Oct. 22, it was announced today by J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Vancouver Island division of the National War Finance Committee.

CONSTRUCTIVE PURPOSES

Mr. Spencer stressed the constructive purposes to be achieved by the funds raised in the 9th Victory Loan in his statement, which follows:

"When the Minister of Finance announced that the 9th Victory Loan would begin on Oct. 22, he called it 'Canada's Greatest Victory Loan.' Although he set the sights for a greater target than any previous drive, it wasn't because of size alone he called it 'Canada's Greatest.' It was the purpose for which the money would be used that he must have had in mind.

"Former Victory Loans were certainly as necessary as this one, but the purposes were mainly destructive. The purposes of this loan are constructive. It is 'Canada's Greatest Victory Loan' because it will help with victories still to be won; it will help bring our fighting forces home and care for them until they are discharged.

"Canada emerges from the war in a favored position among nations. Our homes and factories have escaped devastation; our manufacturing resources have increased enormously; our program of price ceilings, wage controls, taxation and war savings has kept our economy sound. Our prestige is high abroad... we have many friends.

"The money from the 9th Victory Loan will keep our production high and create jobs during the difficult transition period from a war to a peace economy. It will help our returned men. We want to put them on their feet; we want to put them in the way of a permanent good living.

"I feel sure that the people of Vancouver Island will, as usual, do their part and will endeavor to make this 'Canada's Greatest Victory Loan'."

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government today took control of Burns and Co. packing plants at Winnipeg, Prince Albert, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver in a move to avert a strike, Labor Minister Mitchell announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

J. G. Taggart, chairman of the Meat Board, was appointed controller of the plants by an order-in-council and his authority became effective at noon today.

"The Dominion government acted swiftly when it became apparent strike action was contemplated for Monday, Oct. 15," Mr. Mitchell said in his statement to the Commons.

The government's action had been explained to the management of the plants and to Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.), and A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Union, Company Must Negotiate

"The order-in-council requires the company and the union shall proceed with negotiations toward a mutually satisfactory settlement of the dispute without delay in accordance with regulations," Mr. Mitchell said.

One or more commissioners will be appointed to assist in the negotiations and it is likely deputy controllers will be appointed for each branch plant.

Government action had been necessary to prevent "the grave consequences which would result from any interruption of meat shipments to Britain and other European countries."

"Even if Canada succeeds in keeping up the present volume of supplies there is a danger of many lives being lost this winter through starvation in Europe," Mr. Mitchell said.

"A breakdown in the negotiations between employers and employees in respect of working conditions in packing plants, which would develop into a stoppage of work, would not only create a national emergency but would be considered by most Canadians as little less than criminal."

The union also is seeking master agreements with Swift Canadian and Canada Packers Ltd. It had been estimated that a general strike in the packing industry would affect 12,000 workers.

Argentine Cabinet Resigns Peron Goes Into Hiding

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine cabinet has resigned, it was announced officially today.

Meanwhile Col. Juan Peron, political strong man ousted earlier this week, apparently fled to a refuge in the countryside today in the face of demands by a group of army and navy officers for his arrest.

The regime of President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell set next April 7 as a presidential election date in a decree issued shortly after the military group had demanded detention of Peron and resignation of Farrell's cabinet.

A naval officer Thursday night reported the group of officers had demanded transfer of the government's powers to the Supreme Court, but the statement later was denied by army officers. The navy still seeks such a move.

The group was not definitely connected with the army group of the Camp de Mayor garrison which had forced the ouster of "Strong Man" Peron as Vice-President, War Minister and Minister of Labor. Some garrison officers, however, attended the meeting Thursday which preceded the demands.

The election decree was interpreted by some as the first big step on the road back to constitutional normality after more than two years of internal storms which have kept domestic and foreign affairs in a state of ferment.

New Franco Promises

MADRID (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government, in a move carefully interpreted as a bid for support both at home and abroad, held out to the Spanish people today the promise of a restoration of civil liberties and amnesty for political prisoners.

Specifically, the announcement said the government had decided to restore the right of assembly and guarantee individual liberties; conduct municipal elections during the first two weeks of March, 1946; and extend amnesty to political prisoners convicted before the end of the civil war April 1, 1939.

The five-man commission sitting in judgment on Dostler had taken the case under consideration at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Battle in Batavia Growing Serious

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Reports from Batavia said today the situation in Java was "deteriorating," with clashes between Nationalists and the occupation forces increasing.

One British and one Indian officer of the 23rd Indian Division were killed and their bodies mutilated in the first hostile attack against the British forces since the occupation. The officers were shot when they went with a detachment to eject Indonesians who had seized a house in southeast Batavia.

31,220-Ton Carrier Squeezes Under Lion's Gate Bridge Through Fog

Radar-guided the 31,220-ton H.M.S. Implacable, greatest of the Royal Navy's carriers, up the Strait of Juan de Fuca, past Victoria and through the fog in Vancouver harbor Thursday morning. Hundreds gathered on Lion's Gate Bridge, showing faintly through the fog in the above picture, showered confetti and streamers on to the flight deck. Every member of Implacable's company not needed below decks fell in for entering harbor drill just before the carrier reached the span. Most of those who were on deck held their breath as the ship approached the bridge. They didn't think she could squeeze under. In another half-hour the tide would have been too high for her to have made it and she would have had to wait for 12 hours.

As the Implacable was warped into the C.P.R. dock the sailors and their soldier-passengers on deck broke ranks to answer the cheers of Vancouver's thousands down to give a triumphant welcome to the longest and biggest ship ever to enter the harbor. Crowds jammed every inch of space along the waterfront and clung to vantage points on skyscrapers for their first sight of Implacable. Two bands at the docks added to the noise of the greeting. The Marine Building shows in the background.

Union Chiefs Denounce Dock Strike in Britain

LONDON (AP)—Union leaders today condemned Britain's spreading stevedore strike, paralyzing the island's great ports and menacing the meagre ration system, and declared the walkout was being encouraged by Communists and others.

The national docks group committee of the Transport and General Workers' Union in a statement said: "There is definite evidence that the present stoppage had been seized upon by people connected with certain political organizations who had already prepared machinery at their disposal for encouraging and maintaining strike actions."

Questioned as to the identity of the political organization, Arthur Deakin, a union official, said "the Revolutionary Communist Party."

J. Donovan, another union official, said, however, that the action was not confined to Communists and there were other "elements among certain sections of employers and shipowners prepared to foment the difficulty."

Meanwhile troops ordered into the seven-mile-long Liverpool docks began unloading 12,000 tons of urgently required foodstuffs from five freighters and nine coasters.

The strike spread to Edinburgh, where 1,000 Scottish dockers quit work in sympathy with their striking fellow workers.

In London, strike leader Thoma Powell warned the huge port would be tied up completely by Monday unless a settlement is reached during the week-end.

Most major ports already were threatened as stevedores ignored return-to-work pleas of union leaders, despite a government statement that negotiations could be conducted only through regular channels between union officials and dock owners.

The spreading stoppage has tied up 400 ships, many laden with food for short-rationed Britons. The strikers are seeking a daily wage of 25s ($5.50). Their present rate ranges from 16s to 24s.

A possibility that the shutdown would spread to the south coast was raised by a spokesman for a delegation of workers from Southampton, where thousands of Canadian and U.S. soldiers have been embarking for home. He told a meeting of London strikers: "Southampton is willing from noon today to back you up all the way."

Scores Questioned In Montreal Slaying

MONTREAL (CP)—Scores of repatriated airmen at the R.C.A.F. depot at nearby Lachine were being questioned by city detectives today in connection with the death here this morning of 74-year-old Maurice B. Day, who before dying is said to have told police he was attacked by a shell-shocked airmen who claimed he was searching Day's home for an atomic bomb.

An autopsy has been requested by detectives in an effort to determine the circumstances of Day's death. They said they also were working on the theory that the victim might have been delirious and imagined the attack.

Atomic Bomb Survivor From Nagasaki

Gnr. Donald Harper, above, of County Durham, England, told a tale of horror climaxed by the explosion of the atomic bomb on Nagasaki when he arrived Thursday aboard H.M.S. Implacable.

Gnr. Harper was one of 190 prisoners—Dutch and Australian as well as British—who were held in Nagasaki contrary to prisoner-of-war rules. After the bomb explosion all complained of pains in their chests and stomachs which doctors have been unable to diagnose.

Gnr. Harper went to hospital in Vancouver as soon as the ship docked. He recounted how he had been in Nagasaki's factory area about seven miles from the actual explosion.

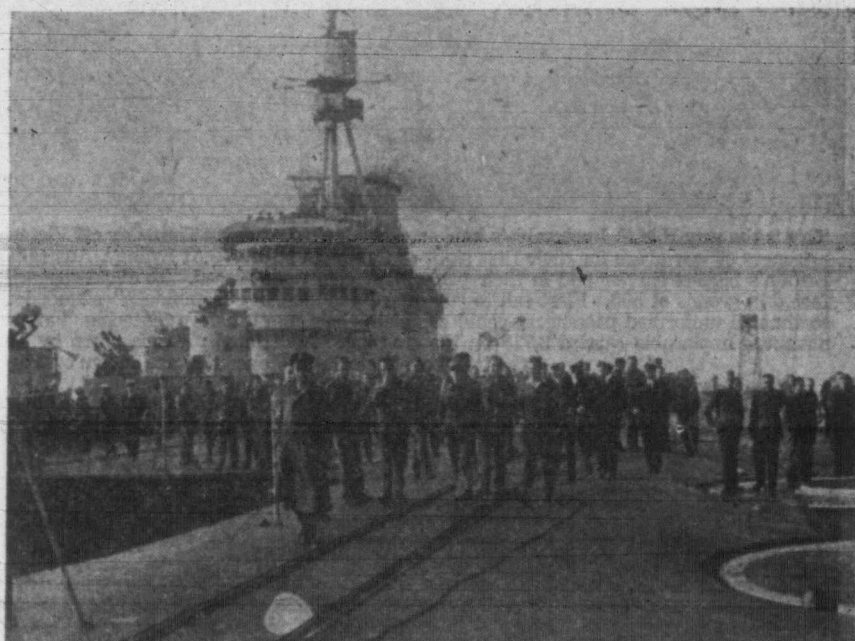

First seized by the Japs in Java he was aboard a ship which was torpedoed off Japan. Only 210 prisoners were saved, while 570 lost their lives. After 30 hours in the water he was picked up by a sloop.

Nov. 11 Remembrance Day for Dead of 2 Wars

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Martin announced Thursday in the Commons that Sunday, Nov. 11, will be observed as a day of remembrance for those who gave their lives in the two great wars.

It is proposed that a two-minute silence be observed across Canada at 11 a.m., local time.

The Canadian Legion is arranging a national remembrance service at Ottawa for 3 p.m., E.S.T. In British Columbia, Nov. 12, has automatically been proclaimed a public holiday under the Shops Regulation and Weekly-Half Holiday and the Factories Acts.

Long before the ship reached Vancouver hundreds of former prisoners of the Japs paced the 766-foot flight deck of H.M.S. Implacable for a glimpse of the Canadian shore. During the crossing from Manila crew members rigged a swimming pool on the big expanse. They also arranged sports and competitions for the uniformed passengers.

$100,000 Paid Out On Implacable

H.M.S. Implacable's forward elevator was put to a new use Thursday morning when ex-prisoners of war lined up on it to receive advance pay before continuing their homeward journey to the British Isles.

When the huge carrier stopped off Victoria to pick up a press party before dawn three large sacks of money were put aboard. They contained $100,000 which had been counted here the day before by Canadian pay officers. Each sack was specially tied and to it was attached a cork buoy to keep it afloat should anything happen to the harbor craft.

pay officers set up their tables on the elevator as shown in the above picture. First in line to receive their money were those leaving Vancouver on the first of four special eastbound trains. By late in the afternoon all 2,127 had received their advance pay and were speeding eastward.

2nd (Dieppe) Division Soon To Be Disbanded

AMSTERDAM (CP)—Departure of the last of the 2nd Canadian Division units and drafts for the United Kingdom en route home Thursday leaves only Maj. Gen. A. B. Matthews' own headquarters to move from Holland. This movement will be completed Oct. 13.

Then the 2nd Division, whose blue identification patch has been famous since the Dieppe raid of 1942, will become a thing of history.

The next to move to Britain will be 7,000 troops drawn from the Canadian forces in the Netherlands, the Canadian Army Occupation Force in Germany, and men of the lines of communications and installations, whose repatriation will scale the army down to the 110-point level.

ing on in Washington between Britain and the United States, it was learned here today.

Prime Minister Chifley expects to attend the conference to represent Australia, it was learned.

Ontario Government Absolved Of Gestapo Charges Laid By C.C.F.

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Drew and his Progressive Conservative government are absolved in a Royal Commission report by Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel of establishing a secret political police office as charged by E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. Leader.

Commissioner LeBel, whose report was made public Thursday night, found that the charges made in the June 4 Ontario election campaign, "were specific with respect to deliberate and wilful acts of wrongdoing by Mr. Drew and his government" and "I have concluded there were no such deliberate and wilful acts."

Mr. Jolliffe named Constable William J. Osborne-Dempster of the Provincial Police as head of the secret political police organization he said had its headquarters at 18 Surrey Place, near the government offices at Queen's Park, Toronto. It developed later that his information came from Constable John Alvin Rowe, who for a time was assistant to Osborne-Dempster.

Mr. Jolliffe charged that misleading material about C.C.F. and other opposition members of the Ontario Legislature had been collected and disseminated to a group engaged in conspiracy to maintain the government in power. Among those named were Premier Drew, Osborne-Dempster, Gladstone Murray, in business in Toronto as a counsel, M. A. Sanderson, a businessman who often published political advertisements, and C. George McCullagh, president of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

FINDING IN 3 SECTIONS

The findings are in three sections, one dealing with Mr. Jolliffe's charges, another with the activities and conduct of members of the Ontario Provincial Police, and the third with the manner in which the C.C.F. leader came into possession of secret police documents.

Among the conclusions on Mr. Jolliffe's charges were:

That the work of the special or anti-sabotage branch of the Provincial Police established in 1939 or 1940, was continued by Osborne-Dempster after the Drew government had taken office in 1943 although it was not brought to the attention of Attorney-General Blackwell.

That Osborne-Dempster was never placed in charge of the Surrey Place office in the sense that he reported directly to Police Commissioner W. M. Stringer, "much less to Mr. Drew or Mr. Blackwell as Mr. Jolliffe charged."

That there is nothing in the evidence that connects Premier Drew even remotely with Osborne-Dempster or his work "other than the Peppin incident."

There was nothing beyond the receipt of 41 of his reports to show that Mr. Blackwell knew of his identity or the nature of his work. However, "I believe that Mr. Blackwell should have found time to discuss the reports with Commissioner Stringer before dismissing them as of no importance."

The conclusions on the activities, conduct, breach of oath or duty or breach of the oath of office of any member or ex-member of the Provincial Police included:

That Commissioner Stringer's conduct was not open to much, if any criticism. He was justified in assuming that he was authorized by Eric Cross, Liberal Attorney-General in 1943, in continuing the anti-subversive work of the force after the work of the anti-sabotage branch had been placed under the supervision of Deputy Commissioner McCready. However, he should have mentioned to Mr. Blackwell the nature of Osborne-Dempster's work.

NOT SUPERVISED

That Deputy Commissioner McCready did not appear to have adequately supervised Osborne-Dempster's work. "I am of the opinion that the fact that Mr. Sanderson obtained from the files at 18 Surrey Place material for his advertisements, and that Osborne-Dempster went off at a tangent with respect to the C.C.F. Party, were due to lack of proper supervision by Mr. McCready personally."

That Constable Rowe's action in reporting Osborne-Dempster's activity to Miss Agnes Macphail, then C.C.F. member of the Ontario Legislature for York East, was "most improper." Rowe should have gone to Mr. McCready, and "if he did not want to do that, he should have sought independent legal advice, and if he objected in conscience to the performance of the work assigned to him he could have resigned." Mr. Justice LeBel said, however, that while Rowe was "guilty, for which he would not be to blame . . . he impressed me as being sincere and honest."

That Osborne-Dempster was guilty of serious breaches of police regulations and that his actions "deserve 'unqualified' condemnation." But in fairness "I should add that nothing was disclosed in the evidence to support the assertion made by Mr. Jolliffe that Dempster's background was 'untrustworthy and sordid.'"

Former Hockey Player Freed After 10 Days

VANCOUVER (CP)—John "Red" Beattie, 39, of Vancouver, former professional hockey player, pleaded guilty in police court here Thursday to being in possession of a gun. He was sentenced to time spent in custody. Beattie was arrested 10 days ago.

NEW BEAUTY

in Furs of distinction

If your mind is set on a truly fine Fur Coat, if you want one of those very smart "Shorty" models, if you want an attractive Neckpiece in your favorite fur, or if you'd like to select a Tuxedo front with which to dress up last year's cloth coat . . . well then, Madam, we're ready at Malleks. Our very large selection includes practically every popular Fur, and every Coat in our stock is an example of the Furrier's Art at its best. Of course the new motifs of sleeve, collar and shoulders are exemplified at their smartest, while linings and every detail of making will stand with the most critical appraisal. And if you would like to choose now and take delivery later we can make arrangements to suit you.

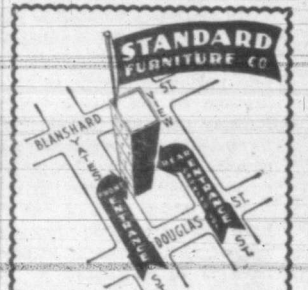

Soldier Flown Home Sees Family Buried

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP)—Sympathetic neighbors and friends numbering 1,000 or more turned out Thursday afternoon as Pte. William H. Garrett stood by in a daze while his entire family—parents and six brothers and sisters—was buried in Morganfield's Odd Fellows' cemetery.

The young soldier—he is 22—flew back from the U.S. army in France to attend the funeral, seemed scarcely to know what was taking place as Rev. Lewis Ward Stanger of the Morganfield Baptist Church conducted the rites.

The family was wiped out last Saturday in an automobile accident near Providence, Ky. Morganfield friends notified Senator Alben W. Barkley and Representative Earle Clements and the War Department immediately made arrangements to bring the soldier—sole survivor of his family—back from France. He crossed the ocean Wednesday in the plane which returned Gen. Mark Clark to New York, and was flown to Sturgis, Ky.

UP TO THE TAXPAYERS

EDITORIAL CROSS-FIRE IN WHICH the three Vancouver newspapers have indulged recently may have confused the public in its consideration of proposals for municipal acquisition of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's holdings. The controversy has derived new interest from the publication of what is known as the Gilman Report—a document submitted to the provincial government in response to the cabinet's request for an independent expert view. This reveals certain recommendations as to how the property, once acquired, should be administered as a publicly-owned utility. The mayors and councils of the municipalities directly concerned are now studying them.

While a definite conflict of view has developed in the editorial columns of the three mainland dailies—two to one against the plan the Gilman Report has submitted—it should be clearly understood at this juncture that the government's own policy has not changed since Premier Hart, on Jan. 21, 1944, officially advised the municipalities of Victoria and Vancouver of his cabinet's attitude toward the matter. At that time he reiterated a statement he had made in the Legislature a year earlier which, in its main essentials, is epitomized as follows:

"The government is not prepared to take over and operate the transportation system in Vancouver and Greater Vancouver, neither is it prepared to undertake the distribution of electricity in these areas. The same applies to Victoria and Greater Victoria."

"However, should these two centres desire to own their transit system and the right to distribute electricity within their boundaries, the government will give consideration to any proposal they have to make."

To this general statement of the government's attitude, however, Mr. Hart added suggestions for the guidance of the municipalities in the event of their decision to evolve an equitable formula for the acquisition of the company's property. These are well known to the mayors and councils of Victoria and Vancouver and have been the subject of a good deal of publicity in the interim. But when all is said and done, and regardless of the tone of the latest discussion, the Premier and his ministerial colleagues stand on their original decision as set forth by Mr. Hart in the letter from which we have quoted. This is the specific paragraph with which that communication ended:

"May I again assure you of my desire to be co-operative at all times; but I consider it would not be in the best interest of the proposal for me to invade the field of municipal responsibility."

In other words, whether the Gilman Report furnishes the municipalities with a practical modus operandi for their venture into public ownership as it concerns the holdings of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, or whether they decide to make further explorations on their own account, it is obvious that the provincial government will maintain the role of the interested observer until the municipalities have evolved concrete proposals. The adoption of such proposals, in any case, would have to be sanctioned by the voters of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver. Subsequent government policy, of course, would be influenced accordingly.

PROVING WHAT?

IN THE WHOLE SORRY PROCEEDINGS called the "trial" of Pierre Laval, few elements are more bizarre than today's revelation that important new evidence has been uncovered which would "explode" the case against him. The dispatch quotes defence counsel to the effect that the former Vichy Chief of Government was arrested by the Germans while plotting to turn his administration over to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, and then indicates the events were transpiring in August of 1944.

During that month the Allies liberated Paris and the progress of the war in Europe was such that a United Nations victory appeared assured. On the face of the brief report from Paris, the sensational new "evidence" would assume to prove only that Laval was preparing to jump again to save his own neck. The story may be lacking in important particulars, but it will impress many readers with the fact that Laval was the best friend Laval ever had, that he was an opportunist of the first degree, and that his wriggling succeeded only in jockeying him into a corner from which not even the detective-thriller production of important "evidence" will release him.

The defence, in this new manoeuvre, hopes to gain for Laval a new trial. For the sake of the record, new proceedings might be of value if only to permit the restoration of some measure of dignity to the conduct of the state's case against the accused. Much has emanated from the courtroom which is repugnant to those who respect the principles of justice as they are maintained on this continent. There have been repeated demonstrations of emotion which fit into our concept of the reasonable processes of law. Admittedly the character of Laval and his demeanor has provoked much of the disorder, but there are those who wish a more restrained behaviour had been maintained by the court.

COMMON DENOMINATORS

THE INTERNATIONAL TRADES UNION Conference in Paris was successful because it found a common denominator in Labor. The Foreign Ministers' Conference in London was unsuccessful because it could not start from the common denominator of humanity. Under the able chairmanship of Sir Walter Citrine, who was elected president of the International Trades Union Congress, the threatened split between the Trades Union delegates over the question of representation in the new International was avoided—by ignoring conflicting politics and concentrating on common interests. The Foreign Ministers could not ignore politics and their conference had to be adjourned in a virtual stalemate.

But the International Trades Union Conference was starting from scratch. The real difference of opinion over representation was due to the fact the Russian representatives represented the Russian government. They are appointed by that government, not elected by the members of the trades unions. Moreover, the American Federation of Labor was unrepresented, and Sir Walter Citrine obviously hopes that the C.I.O. and A.F.L. will discover a common denominator and a common representation in the new International. Russian delegates appointed by their government had already sat in at the meetings of the British Trades Union Congress; and the more these delegates mix with the democratic representatives from other nations, the better chance there is for international understanding.

The Council of Foreign Ministers was taking the second step as members of a common organization of nations with differing "ideologies." These ideologies have a widely different application to politics and to economics. One is democratic, the other totalitarian, and to weave a common cloth out of the two is difficult. The Trades Union Conference was taking its first step, as representatives of trades unions, to organize an international body capable of determining the common interests of labor. They succeeded in organizing that body just as the nations were successful at San Francisco in organizing the United Nations.

Both the United Nations and the Trades Unions have a common denominator—peace. But from maintaining peace to eliminating the causes of war is a long, long road, and in its pursuit many "ideologies" must fall by the wayside. The great thing to remember is that rubbing shoulders, while it may lead to sore arms, can stop the itch to murder which is disastrous to any understanding.

TOO COSTLY

IT IS REASONABLE TO EXPECT THAT the establishment of a town-planning commission will provoke debate and that much of the discussion will be valuable. There are many aspects to the subject which are not generally understood and a very considerable amount of information will have to be disseminated before the public becomes familiar with the full duties and purposes of such a board.

But it will amaze most readers to hear preliminary objections raised by Ald. J. A. Worthington. He is reported to have been worried about the costs of the commission itself, its staff, and the commitments to which it might obligate the city. The alderman presumably had been informed that any proposals submitted would be of an advisory nature only.

While Alderman Worthington is concerned over costs, the majority of people with any inkling of the workings of a town-planning commission will wonder how the city can afford to do without one. Much of the work which falls to such an organization arises from the errors of omission in the first instance. The commissioners are required to devise ways and means of correcting the lack of planning by earlier generations. With new developments essential to the welfare of Victoria, are the same old mistakes of previous eras to be repeated for costly correction at some future date? Happily for the community's prospects for progress, however, Ald. Worthington was notably alone in his inexplicable stand against the commission on the grounds of expense.

LEST WE FORGET

WEATHER REPORTS PLAYED A paramount part in the war and the astounding accuracy of their forecasts enabled the army, navy and air force to co-ordinate their work in a manner which at times seemed miraculous. The fog which enveloped von Rundstedt's last counter-attack, the escape of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau from Brest and their drive through the Straits of Dover in a snowstorm, were illustrations of the enormous importance of being able to calculate within a matter of minutes the location of changes in temperature and those other conditions that go to make up the prosaic weather forecasts issued each day. They come with such regularity that they are taken for granted, without much thought for the manner in which they are gathered. So we learn with a terrifying shock that ever since last January the American weather station in Greenland has been isolated. A snowslide destroyed its power house, and though there have been several attempts made to rescue the personnel, none has succeeded.

Try to realize the endurance, the patience, the intestinal fortitude of those men isolated amid ice and snow, grimly holding on under conditions which, to the average man who has never experienced them, are simply not conceivable. All too seldom do we stop to think of the sacrifices made by others who make it possible to forecast the weather 24 hours ahead.

Another nice thing about peace is that the army and navy won't need to store enough butter and eggs to last five years.

In Britain Today

By B. T. RICHARDSON

ON THE QUEEN ELIZABETH I saw a sentence scrawled on the white paint of the gangway. It said "Clem was here." Clem was obviously an American soldier tourist. At the troops' mess hall—which will be the first-class dining saloon when the giant Queen changes into a passenger liner again—I saw the words, "Clem ate here." When the ship docked early Saturday evening I walked to the centre of Southampton to see the bomb damage there and found written on the boarding around an empty open cellar, "Clem was here."

The war and alien soldiers have left their marks on England. How deep that mark is one cannot tell at first glance. Like the weeds growing up at the base of a mountain of rubble seen from the train in south London, the new growth of England is already covering its wounds. But the new gaping holes still show. The strange nakedness of a house from which bombs had sheared the neighboring buildings—against which it once nestled is open for all to see.

SOME OF LONDON is like an anthill divided by a pane of glass with the earth scraped away. Some of the numbness of six years of war pervades London, which is like a prisoner just set free by a terrible victory, after long months in a dark and heavy dungeon.

London is packed with people from the provinces, up to see the bombing damage on their first visit in six years. They peer over the low brick walls around the empty places, as I did, in several hours' walking on my first day.

In Southampton I asked a policeman to direct me to the worst bomb damage. "You are in the centre of two," he said, adding Southampton had been bombed worse than London. Local pride in having suffered worse than London, which had the lion's share of publicity and credit for standing up to it, is strong in the provincial cities.

But London possesses bombed areas big enough to accommodate whole cities. Yet as people tell you, when they have just returned to Canada, you can go around London for blocks without noticing any damage.

SIX YEARS of war have left the native Londoners with a fierce brittle pride. It colors the British attitude towards the world and towards negotiations for assistance from other countries for economic rehabilitation. The impulse is strong, one senses, to withdraw into the sterling area and to make a tight little economic bloc of the Empire.

Prime Minister King will encounter that feeling. Some sections of the London press are fanning for all they are worth this old dream of a closed Empire. Whether Britain is prepared to move with America to a new world of multilateral prosperity is plainly the question of the hour here.

But coming to London from Washington, D.C., it seems to me at once that the British, like the Americans, are suddenly engrossed in domestic affairs, now that the war is ended.

WITH HOTEL reservations and a two-room flat rented for me in advance, I have had no reason to experience the rigors of house hunting here. But all the evidence of deep inflation exists. Controls cannot be lifted for many months and obviously the Labor government's growing problem will be to deal with rising public resentment on this score.

Price tags of goods in store windows seem fabulous after I convert shillings into dollars, with some mental difficulty. Having lost a trunk through a lapse in the well-known American efficiency at Washington, I studied the men's clothing stores. Underwear that would have been two or three dollars in Canada before the war is four or five times that here. Chain stores of men's cheap clothing calling themselves "Fifty Shilling Tailors," have nothing at 50 shillings today, but offer you suits, if you have the coupons, at 100 to 140 shillings. Woodbine cigarettes which were sixpence the package when I lived in London 10 years ago, are now tenpence halfpenny.

COST-OF-LIVING items are controlled rigidly but everything else is expensive. Movies cost twice as much. London looks shabby. But London was never a city of brightness.

The people seem much healthier than I remember Londoners appeared. The children are, as usual, lively and healthy and well dressed in appearance.

Not many new clothes are seen on the streets, but Londoners never wore bright colors and my light grey hat from Washington seems the only one in town but it will soon be darkened enough to pass without notice—as I remember the effect of winter fogs here.

THEY GRASPED THE TORCH

More than 3,000,000 French books were printed in Canada during the five years of war while German censorship was forbidding publication of many of these works in France.

"Resistance" Parisian daily newspaper recently printed the thanks and homage of a grateful France for the manner in which French thought was thus able to remain free.

"The triumph of the Free French Forces of the mind is due, no doubt, to Switzerland, to England, to United States, but most of all to Canada, and perhaps this is not well enough known."

"Maintaining French culture above the political storms, our friends in Quebec and Montreal grasped the torch which escaped our hands in 1940. Their government permitted publishers to reprint French works which otherwise might have been very soon unobtainable; with the sole condition that 10 per cent of the selling price should be reserved for the benefit of the lawful publishers and the authors."

Letters to the Editor

OUR LIGHTING SYSTEM

Having increased our tax rate by five mills, the City Council announces that it intends to replace our ornamental cluster lights with more powerful lights, which are ugly and which, I gather, will cost the same to operate.

What is the sense of giving better light to an already well-lighted area—the best lighted area in the city, and at no saving in cost, while our residential districts are so poorly lighted that they are a disgrace to the city, and a menace to the residents?

Aldermen seeking re-election should state their stand on this matter so that the taxpayers can vote accordingly.

SHIPWORKER REPLIES

I read with disgust the comments of some "outside builders" in Victoria to your reporters: "That the craftsmen (carpenters and joiners) were deteriorating in their skill since they have been working in the shipyards."

I maintain that Victoria never had so many skilled tradesmen (carpenters and joiners) in its midst. Shipyard work demands far more skill from a man than is demanded of a finishing carpenter. We at the V.M.D. take no back seat to any workmen in the world for highly-skilled work on ships. We have men from Yarrow with us now, and in spite of having free access to more pay outside they prefer to work and show their skill in the shipyard.

V.M.D. and Yarrow have built many ships for the navy and the government and have received praise from all over the world for their work and the high stamp of approval from Lloyds (A.I.).

So kindly print this protest in the spirit of fair play to the splendid craftsmen of the shipyards who are well known by the Builders Exchange for their excellence on any kind of woodwork.

E. A. SHARP,

BELIEVES IN JOHN HART

I am, and always have been, a staunch Conservative in politics, but I want to pay a hearty tribute to the man who has for several years given us good honest administration and kept taxes at the lowest limit. I allude to our worthy premier and finance minister, Hon. John Hart.

During all the time that he has held office there has never been a breath of scandal cast against him, and I believe that when he does quit politics he will be no richer man than when he assumed office.

Mr. Harold Winch says "that we choose" between the white-haired boy and the black-haired boy for our next premier." Let us put our money on the white-haired one.

It is customary at our public meetings to have a little musical entertainment. Could not we find someone who could render that popular old song, "As your hair grows whiter we will love you more." The chorus is catchy and could be taken up.

RUMMAGE SALES

Commenting on a letter headed "Clothing Drive" in your issue of Oct. 3 I feel it is not a very good compliment to those who donate articles to our rummage sales to imagine that they would, at this time, send us any wearable warm garments or blankets that should go overseas, these being what we are asked for by our government.

Certainly the R.S. conveners do not ask for such things nor do they expect to get any. Surely we can trust the public in that regard. At all times many things besides clothing have been sold at rummage sales, such as articles of furniture, kitchen utensils, books, odd crockery "white elephants," lamp shades and superfluities of all kinds and we shall hope to receive some of these things this time, also clothing that is not in good enough condition for overseas or utterly unsuitable for that purpose. Nothing is wasted that is sent to us and anything left over is put to some use.

Big Benefit for Taxpayers Here Foreseen in Education Reforms

Taxpayers in Victoria, which has the highest assessment in the province, will benefit considerably through implementation of the Coalition government's proposed reforms of education taxes, Mrs. Nancy Hodges said Thursday night.

A property owner whose land is assessed at $500 and his improvements at $2,000, now pays $22.72 in school taxes. Under the government's plans for school tax reform he would pay $10, she said.

Mrs. Hodges, who is Coalition candidate in Victoria in the Oct. 25 provincial general election, made these estimates at the first Coalition campaign meeting in Ward 5, held at South Park School. Occupying the same platform was W. T. Straith, K.C., who is seeking re-election in Victoria on the Coalition ticket. Ald. Duncan D. McTavish spoke in support of the two candidates. C. J. McDowell was chairman.

Mrs. Hodges, outlining the accomplishments and projects of the Coalition government in social and educational reform, said that under the Cameron report provisions which Premier Hart had announced the Coalition government would institute, 28 districts and 35 cities would benefit next year.

Achievements of the Coalition government in the education field included:

1. Special financial assistance to rural schools.
2. Provision of more free text books.
3. Abolition of fees for summer and normal schools.
4. Assistance to University of British Columbia.

U.B.C. ENROLLMENT UP

"I'm very glad to see that the enrollment is now almost 5,000," she said, noting that the university had been built to accommodate from 1,500 to 1,800.

"It is a healthy sign for our province to have so many going in for higher education," she continued.

She said the government had allocated $5,000,000 for erection of new buildings at the university, and had made another appropriation for establishment of faculties of law, medicine and pharmacy.

Earlier in her address she had told of the birth of the Coalition regime.

"I think the results have more than justified what we had done in 1941," she said. "Governments must be judged by their performance. I don't think any one would deny the Coalition government has given good performance, sound administration, and shaped sound policies."

Mr. Straith, who has represented Victoria in the B.C. Legislature since 1937, emphasized that unlike Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. provincial leader, who, at an address in Victoria last week, had promised 100,000 jobs out of the sky if his party were chosen to form a government, the Coalition government would give full employment "by natural development of the province—planned, orderly development."

He mentioned government accomplishments and plans to provide jobs on Vancouver Island, noting that what would help the island would help Victoria.

Next year, he said, 20,000,000 young trees would be available for reforestation undertakings on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. He said planting 10,000 seedlings to the acre would cost $10.

This reforestation was expensive, so the government had made provision for natural reforestation by requiring slash burning and maintaining seed trees on logged-off areas.

ISLAND PULP MILLS

The government was assisting, through allocating one-fifth of the output of electrical power from the proposed Elk Falls power plant to a mill at Port Alberni, in the development of pulp and paper industries on the lower west coast of the island. Mr. Straith said the east coast of the island was also suitable for pulp installations.

Dealing with Vancouver Island's second industry—tourism—Mr. Straith mentioned the construction of the Hope-Princeton and Pine Pass Highways, for which provision had already been made.

"We may expect increased tourist traffic here by reason of these two projects," he said, noting that in the past a majority of the tourists to the island had come from the south, but in the future, routes would also be available for tourists to drive in from the east and the north.

Mr. Straith said rural electrification would make Vancouver Island more attractive to persons wishing to settle on Vancouver Island.

Creation of a Dominion Park at the Forbidden Plateau would make that area available to tourists as were Banff and Lake Louise, he said, adding the plateau offered skiing conditions as fine as anywhere on the continent.

Acts As Guide

Ann Ruffo, 19, can hike as well as any male guide and can even sling a canoe and a pack on her back. Miss Ruffo has found out knowing these things has been a big help since she has been acting as guide for fishing and hunting parties at Metagama, 65 miles northwest of Sudbury, Ont. Miss Ruffo is acting guide because of the manpower shortage. Occasionally she meets a bear along the bush trails but her motto is to leave them alone and they will do the same.

Many in Europe Killed By Exposure

OTTAWA (CP)—Almost as many people in Europe have died from exposure due to lack of clothing as from starvation, War Services Minister McCann said today in a statement issued in support of the national clothing collection now underway across Canada.

"In these new days of peace, when the agonizing exigencies of war have been lifted from us, we in Canada are in danger of forgetting that for many of our gallant allies horror persists," said Dr. McCann. "That they may have food Canadians are consenting to meatless days and submitting to continued rationing."

"Without adequate covering, help to their sick is futile. Even those who are physically able to begin the tremendous task of reconstruction cannot do so while virtually naked or shoeless, nor until their bodies are adequately protected can they regain their self-respect and confidence and look with hopeful hearts to the future."

Dr. McCann said that in addition to having the approval of the government, the collection was receiving the active support of such national organizations as the Salvation Army, the I.O.D.E., the Canadian Jewish Congress, Canadian service clubs and churches of all denominations.

NEWS ABOUT VITAMINS!

READ WHAT YOU GET IN 2 GLASSES OF OVALTINE

Take your vitamins in combination with other food elements for best results.

Many people need extra vitamins for better health and keen vitality, but it is now known that vitamins do not work alone. They work as a team with certain other food elements. Hence, more and more, authorities are insisting "Take your vitamins in food!"

One of the reasons vitamins are so effective in Ovaltine is that Ovaltine is a concentrated all-round building food. It contains the other food elements that enable vitamins to work together effectively as a team.

For example, Vitamin D can't do its complete job unless you have plenty of calcium and phosphorus, as found in a glass of Ovaltine made with milk. Vitamin A can't function fully unless you also have plenty of high-quality protein, such as Ovaltine supplies. Vitamin B₁ can't spark food into energy unless it has fuel-food to work on. To get this important "team-work", doctors urge "Take your vitamins in food!"

Ovaltine also is the most delicious way to take your extra vitamins and minerals! And it costs very little for all it gives you! If you're eating normal meals, 2 glasses of Ovaltine a day give you all the extra vitamins and minerals you need. So why not turn to Ovaltine, as thousands are doing, for the delicious way to get more effective team-work from extra vitamins and minerals for better health and all-round vitality!

Night Arrival of Gosper Repats Hailed By Largest Crowd Yet

A few of the thousands of U.S. veterans of the Pacific war who packed against the rails of the U.S. transport Ss. Gosper to watch as she disembarked 454 British and Canadian repatriates who shared the voyage from Manila with them.

U.S. transport Ss. Gosper broke through the darkness of Esquimalt harbor into the brightly-lighted area of Government drydock, at 9 Thursday night to be met by the largest crowd yet greeting repatriates from Japan prisoner of war camps.

At one time a huge crowd at the gates broke past the guards and made their way to the dockside which was already jammed to overflowing.

As the vessel came in, searchlights probed and swung through the sky, horns tooted, whistles screamed and sirens wailed to add to the din of cheers which came from the docks and from the packed rails of the transport's deck.

It was almost an hour before servicemen could clear the mob far enough away from the gangway to disembark the men. Senior officers of the army and navy joined hands with naval ratings and privates to press back the mob which surged into the gangway area again and again.

Finally, lines were strung to keep the people back and sturdy R.C.M.P. and navy men shoved and pushed other sections of the crowd away.

MEET HER FATHER

Joyful Mrs. G. R. Dunn, 10 Ascot Apartments, with the help of her husband, broke through the cordon into the cleared passageway to fling her arms around her father, Pte. John Downey, Winnipeg Grenadiers.

She did not think her father was expecting her as she had been at home in Winnipeg before he left. However, he had been looking forward to it, as his wife had managed to get a letter to him at Manila.

Hon. C. G. Power, former Minister of National Defence, and Mrs. Power, accompanied by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward, were on hand in the crowd to greet their son, Lieut. Francis G. Power, Royal Rifles of Canada.

Too excited to stop to talk was Mrs. C. E. Pinel who searched the transport's rails with her eyes for a sign of her husband, Capt. Pinel, who was captured at Hongkong. He expected her to be at San Francisco.

Mrs. Pinel, herself, was a prisoner of the Japanese. She was evacuated from Hongkong to Manila where she was held three years before her release last May.

As the wives and sweethearts met their men coming off the ship, officers holding back the crowds called out to the repatriates: "Take her on the bus with you!" "Take her on the bus with you!" "There was no time to stop and talk with other repatriates pressing behind and the crowd only a few feet away keeping the hard-won passage narrow.

Dr. J. W. Anderson, held at Hongkong as a civilian internee, was met by his wife, daughter, Fiona, and two sons, Malcolm and David.

Naval Chaplain H. H. Hoyt watched the faces of the 454 British and Canadians as they disembarked for the familiar face of his college friend, Army padre, James Barnett, of Quebec.

They both attended Bishop's College, Lennoxville. Padre Barnett was taken prisoner at Hongkong.

A hero of H.M.S. Exeter, sunk in March, 1942, during the battle of the naval sea, returning to British soil was Capt. O. L. Gordon, M.V.O., R.N., who was met by high ranking officers of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Miss Vera Sullivan, Victoria, met her fiancée, Lt. Alex Black of New Westminster, who was taken by the Japanese while fighting with the Winnipeg Grenadiers.

Mrs. C. F. Rowe, Dawson Creek, flew to Victoria to meet her brother, Maj. A. Bishop, Bury, Quebec, who served with the Royal Rifles of Canada.

It was a dull day, and the two little sardines were swimming aimlessly about. In a bored tone, one of them suggested they go away for the week-end.

"Oh, no," objected his companion. "It's much too long a swim."

"We could make the trip on a train," ventured the first sardine.

"What!" shouted the second, "and be jammed in like human beings!"

Referee, Boxla Player Suspended

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jimmy Gunn of Vancouver, one of the officials in Wednesday night's final game of Canadian lacrosse championships between St. Catharines Athletics and Vancouver Burrards, Thursday was barred from "any further employment by the C.L.A. in any capacity, for using bad language."

The C.L.A. decision was handed down at a special meeting late yesterday following a complaint by Gunn that he was "beaten up" after the game by Bill Whittaker, veteran goalkeeper for St. Catharines.

The C.L.A. also suspended Whittaker "until such time as he appears before an executive meeting of the C.L.A."

Gunn said Whittaker, in company with several other St. Catharines players, forced his way into the referees' dressing-room after the game and, after a brief exchange of words, struck him with his fists.

Karakas Checks In At Chicago Camp

REGINA (CP)—Three new faces will be seen when Chicago Black Hawks, National Hockey League club now in training here, and Doc Rommies' Kansas City Americans renew their exhibition hockey series at Queen City Gardens.

Mike Karakas, veteran Hawk goalie, will make his debut in the nets, while George Gee of Toronto and Wingy Johnson will show on the forward lines. Rommies doesn't think his Americans will be far off, though they lost the opener of the three-game series, 5 to 2, to the Hawks Thanksgiving Day.

Ex-Servicemen Get Preference at Duncan

DUNCAN—City council of Duncan in regular session has agreed that preference would be given returned men with regard to business licenses, following receipt of a request from the Duncan rehabilitation committee.

A letter from the Stewart & Hudson Retail Lumber Yard of Victoria was read informing the council that the company was arranging for a lease on a part of the Indian Reserve at Duncan to establish a retail lumber yard. The council has no jurisdiction over the leasing of the land, it was stated. A letter from the city health officer advised the council that information could be obtained from the provincial engineer with regard to the manner of handling the city dump ground.

In response to a query from the council of mayors and municipalities, council stated it preferred daylight saving from March 1 to Oct. 31. Permission was granted the Canadian Legion to hold the usual tag day in November.

A by-law will be prepared to have a concrete sidewalk on Islay Street. Offer of Fred Wilson to give advice on rose culture in the city and E. & N. gardens was referred to the parks and gardens committee. Deputy minister of municipal affairs advised the council by

Chandler Charges Smear Campaign

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)—Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler Thursday accused hidden enemies of attempting to discredit him as baseball commissioner in an organized smear campaign.

His hometown Versailles newspaper, the Woodford Sun, which he owns, announced in a headline: "Happy" and owners smoke pipe of peace after false report of rift and attempt to buy contract."

Chandler, turning on his famous grin, said he had been "worked over" in smear campaigns many times before during his political career and had survived them all. "This one didn't work, either," he said.

Asked whether, in his opinion, he was being attacked this time by political or baseball interests, he declared:

"It is not on the baseball side." He referred to published reports that he and baseball club owners were at odds and that the owners wanted to buy off his seven-year commissioner's contract.

REVOLUTIONARY FRANCE

"Private Adventures of Capt. Shaw," by Edith Shay and Katharine Smith (Thos. Allen Ltd.).

PARIS in 1793 exerted the same fascination over the spirits of men as she does today.

In this story of his private adventures, young Capt. Philander Shaw, a solid Yankee skipper, sails from his Cape Cod home to seek his fortune in trade across the Atlantic.

His adventures hurl him into the turbulent life that was France in revolution and into a love affair with Lucille, a beautiful young aristocrat under the shadow of Mme. La Guillotine. For awhile he forgets his New England home in the excitement of Paris, where he meets such notables as Thomas Paine and Robespierre.

Finally he goes home again to his sandy Cape Cod farm and to Tamaris, his childhood sweetheart. But no longer is he the provincial, single-minded New Englander. Now he is a citizen of the world.

Young People Need Training For Parenthood

Training of young married couples in the care and development of children, the need for nursery schools in such development and the place of co-operative community playgrounds in the plan, were touched upon in a friendly, informal talk given by Dr. K. Whiteside Taylor of Seattle, at a meeting of the Victoria Nursery School Association, held in the home of Miss Sara Spencer, 1040 Moss Street, Thursday evening.

We wouldn't think of sending our children to school unless the teachers were trained for their positions, Dr. Taylor said, or to a doctor unless he knew what he was doing. Young parents, on the other hand, enter into this business of raising children, with no understanding or knowledge of the importance of the work they are taking on.

An unhappy home, she added, can do more to color the whole life of a child than many people realize.

TAUGHT TO SHARE

Because our modern families are small, one child in most instances, nursery schools are very important in child development. They give the wee tot an opportunity to share with others, and to learn the security of being able to do things with others.

Dr. Taylor gave a comprehensive picture of the co-operative playground centres in Seattle. Started from a small group of seven mothers and children a few years ago, there are now 22 of these playgrounds functioning in the Sound City.

Mrs. Vernon Jones presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Miss Laura Holland moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Taylor for her interesting address. Mrs. W. W. McGill thanked Miss Spencer, the hostess, for opening her home for the meeting.

Mrs. T. Floyd sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. S. H. Darville. Miss Violet Ashdown spoke briefly on a bursary plan which the association is sponsoring to give outstanding young persons training in nursery school work.

Councillor W. B. White, chairman of the Saanich clothing drive, has announced that Saturday will be the day for collection in that district.

Trucks will make door to door visits in Wards 1, 2 and 7, and in Ward 3, residents, helped by school pupils, will take clothes to the following subdepots:

Cadboro Bay post office, J. L. Hobbs, corner of Hobbs Road and Maynard Avenue, and Wheeler's barn, Gordon Head. Those unable to transport their clothes are asked to call G 7355, Albion St. or Albion 3V.

In Ward 6 collection has been undertaken by Brentwood and Saanich Women's Institutes. Information may be obtained from Keating 70X.

Collecting centres for other depots are: Ward 4, Strawberry Vale school; Murphy's store; Colquitz post office, Huntingdon store, Hastings Street; McNutt's gasoline station, Colquitz; Strawberry Vale store, Burnside Road; Red and White store, Burnside and Wilkinson Road; G. McWilliams, Marigold post office; Miss W. Seymour, Belgrade Avenue; Mrs. Plater and Mr. Paterson, Wilkinson Road.

Ward 5 has two main depots, a shed at the Saanich municipal hall, Royal Oak, and the home of Mrs. K. R. Genn, Cordova Bay, Colquitz 25F will supply information.

For general information residents are asked to telephone E 1381 or E 0911, where operators will be on duty all day.

Clothing Drive Plans Made for Oak Bay

A generous response is expected in Oak Bay to the National Clothing Drive, which will take the form of a one-day collection, beginning early Sunday morning.

Mrs. A. J. Bewley is chairman of the Oak Bay division. Army trucks will pick up contributions at front doors, in bundles or when possible in large cartons. It is particularly requested that shoes be tied in pairs.

Information may be obtained by phoning E 2198 and Sunday only-G 5152.

St. Mary's A.Y.P.A.—The last meeting took the form of an educational evening with a tour through the Northwestern Creamery, conducted by A. Trimble. Next week several speakers will be present at the meeting.

THE LADIES' COMMITTEE OF THE PROTESTANT ORPHANAGE HOME

wish to thank all their kind friends for donations of funds and supplies given at their Annual Pound Party on Oct. 4.

British Wives Stage Protest Meeting

LONDON (Reuter)—Cmdr. H. Agar, special assistant to the United States embassy, was mobbed Thursday when he told a group of wives of Canadian and American servicemen in Caxton Hall he was unable to name a date on which they could sail to join their husbands.

The wives, "feeling pretty sick" about the lack of transportation to take them across the Atlantic, staged a protest meeting in the hall.

Things got out of hand earlier when it was found the hall was much too small for the number of servicemen's wives, nearly 1,000, who turned up.

But as the chairman, Mrs. F. Rhodes of Manchester, put it, they tried to be "dignified about this." A resolution was adopted urging that immediate steps be taken to provide transport.

Cmdr. Agar told the gathering: "A lot is being done, but in terms of what you want to hear—the date when you can go home—there is no answer."

As the meeting ended Cmdr. Agar was mobbed by those in the hall and had to leave by a side door.

Many wives who were unable to get in stood outside the building, singing, "We want ships."

DIVORCE-PROOFING MARRIAGE

It has long been my conviction that nothing would do so much to promote domestic felicity and stop divorce as for every engaged couple to go to a good lawyer and have him draw them up an air-tight marriage contract in which it would be specified, in black and white, what each agreed to do and leave undone, and what each had a right to expect and demand of the other.

In a way, this would be merely window-dressing, for, of course, in the most important things in marriage, such as tenderness, understanding, sympathy, etc., there is no way in which husbands and wives can have the law on each other if they fail to live up to their agreement. No wife could get an injunction against her husband because his kisses had lost their pre-matrimonial pep. Nor could a husband collect damages from his wife by claiming that she had lost her willowy figure and gone fat on him.

ONLY BLUNDERS

Possibly matrimonial crimes will always have to be settled by the courts, but very few husbands and wives are cold blooded villains who deliberately slay each other's peace and happiness and wreck their marriages. Most of them are just blundering, well-meaning people, even as you and I, who scrap with each other over trifles until they land in the divorce courts, where they never expected to be.

And this catastrophe could be largely averted if along with a marriage license every bride couple acquired with it a contract that set forth specifically their duties and obligations to each other. Take the things over which most husbands and wives fight—money, for instance. The bridegroom swears at the altar to endow his wife with all his worldly goods, yet innumerable husbands make their wives unpaid servants who never have a cent of their own. Wouldn't it save a lot of friction if the wife could draw out her bill of rights and show her husband where he obligated himself to pay her a certain amount of money every month in return for her services, given and received?

And freedom. The curse of marriage is its lack of all personal liberty. Both husbands and wives feel that they have the right to impose all of their tastes and habits and likes and allergies on each other. Friend husband can't stay down town to have dinner with a friend without tears and reproaches from his wife. Wife can't buy a good hat without lying about the price. What a relief it would be to both if their marriage contract entitled each the right to a day off every week and a holiday from each other now and then.

IN-LAW VISITS

And how many divorces would be saved if the marriage contract definitely limited the number of visits and length of stay of the respective in-laws, and if it provided that husbands and wives should treat each other with the consideration they would show a stranger, and if the wife would undertake to give satisfaction as a cook and housekeeper in order to hold her job, and if the husband would consider that his matrimonial partnership was as binding as his business one.

Of course, these things are all tacitly inferred when people marry, but it would certainly jack up many husbands and wives, who are welching on their bargains, if they would read over their marriage contract now and then and see what they let themselves in for when they signed on the dotted line.

V.O.N. Tea Honors Nurses

In honor of Mrs. K. Forrest and Miss Laura Fraser, who are leaving the staff of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Mrs. Norman Yarrow entertained members of the V.O.N. board and of the junior auxiliary at a farewell tea. Among nurses of the order present were: Miss Marjorie Baird, the supervisor, Misses H. Richardson, M. Bawden, M. Williams, H. Gauld and W. McClelland. Mrs. Yarrow, president of the board, made presentations which were of Spode, also a Wedgewood compote to Mrs. Forrest, and a morocco leather bag and wallet to Miss Fraser, gifts from the senior and junior members of the board.

September meeting of the board was held preceding the tea. Miss Baird reported 198 new cases, with a total of 1,236 calls. There were 48 medical and surgical cases, five pre-natal and 39 mothers and babies. Families of the armed forces numbered 29, attended in 107 visits.

Baby clinics totaled an attendance of 271, and the mothercraft sewing classes eight.

Miss Baird mentioned donations of bundles of dressings and equipment from disbanding A.R.P. posts, as well as gifts made through the nurses for the rummage sale.

Appreciation was expressed by the meeting of the help received outside the V.O.N. membership for the recent sale, particularly A. W. Blake, members of the Women's Volunteer Service, and of the Girl Guides.

Entertain Friends On 30th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. Perkins 350 Gorge Road West, were at home to their many friends and relatives on their 30th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in games and dancing to music supplied by Frank Michellin. Navy W.A. Hears Of Benevolent Fund

At a meeting of the W.A. to the Royal Canadian Navy, it was announced that more than 400,000 boys were served in H.M.C.S. Givency canteens during the past 14 months. Volunteer workers for the canteens were provided by the women's auxiliary.

Mrs. C. D. Donald presided and Lieut. D. Decker addressed the members on the benevolent fund for all naval personnel, which now totals the sum of $300,000. Naval service, ex-members, dependents, widows and orphans may apply for a loan or an outright grant at the local canteen fund. The board of 12 meets once a year.

A sum of $500 was donated by the auxiliary to the benevolent fund and $100 was given Lieut. Decker for immediate expenses. Prince Robert House was given $200 and the prisoner of war fund $200.

Those taking part in the program are: Piano, Joan Archer, Dolores Robinson, Lorraine Brand, Beverly Luff, Larry Landy, Earl Smith; vocal, Kathryn Dixon. Guests artists will be Edith McGill, violin, and Robert Thornburn, piano.

Luxton W.I.—Highlights of the recent conference were given by Mrs. H. Langrish and Mrs. D. Flatman at the last meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute. A 500 card party will be held Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. H. Reid. Mrs. Langrish, quilt convener, reported the next quilting bee will be Oct. 25 at the home of Mrs. C. A. Ramsfield, Luxton Road. The sum of $3 was voted to help defray expense of the Halloween party Oct. 31. Details of the Princess Alice fund were outlined, the members deciding to make personal subscriptions.

Esquimalt I.O.D.E. — A new member, Mrs. John Halstead, was welcomed at the last meeting of Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E. Individual members were asked to support the Princess Alice Foundation Fund for the education and development of youth leaders, funds to be collected at the November meeting of the chapter. A cash donation was voted to the Sea Cadets; an extra $25 will be given to the Secondary Education Fund, and 12 sweaters will be purchased for distribution among the repatriates. The chapter will continue to make pyjamas and socks to send to Britain. Members were asked to submit names and numbers of members of their families who have served with the armed forces during the war in order that the honor roll may be completed.

To Visit Repatriates—At the last meeting of the Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., the following members were appointed to visit repatriated prisoners of war during their stay in Victoria: Mesdames G. B. Elliott, Aubrey Kent, D. W. Carter, P. E. George, Mrs. V. Webster was chosen convener of the Empire Study Group. Mrs. J. L. Ford, regent, Mrs. R. Shanks and Mrs. A. D. Cecil Solly Says:

How About Selling the Surplus?

During the last three years every effort has been made to educate the amateur gardener for bigger and better crop production. This better-informed gardener, with good practices and continued experience may have some "bumper" crops or learn how to utilize old fruit trees for greater harvests. Many have decided that after they have used and stored all that will be necessary for the family, there will be an expected surplus of some vegetables or fruits.

From now on any fresh greens from your late fall and winter garden will be at a premium as well as the apples and pears and nuts from the trees.

This surplus can well be turned into some cash or credit, with which to buy tools, fertilizers, seeds or plants for next year's food and flower gardens. Others are selling produce to the local grocer for credit on items not grown at home. Others have considered or erected stands and signs in front of their place so that city folks, out driving, could stop and take home some "garden fresh" crops.

NEWS FOR EVERY GARDENER

Here are parts of a talk made by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson, that I think should be read by every citizen gardener, especially those who have considered letting their food gardens go by, because the "fighting is over."

Mr. Anderson says: "Some of the food shortages which are still with us are world wide and for these the situation cannot improve greatly until world supplies improve."

"Other shortages will improve in a matter of weeks and more rapidly after that as we begin to get the accumulated effects of reduction in the size of our armed forces. Others will continue to some extent because of the necessity of supplying food to war-ravaged areas of the world in the interest of building a sound and lasting peace."

"Farmers can be assured that there is need for every bit of food they are producing and that there will be plenty of demand here and abroad for this food at good prices. In the exceptional cases, where supplies are temporarily exceeding demand, the department of agriculture will buy as much as necessary to make good on price support promises wherever they have been made. But, in general, the fact is the over-all demands will be so great for some time to come that scarcity of some important foods may continue though the war has ended."

NO STORES OF FOOD

"Contrary to belief, the armed forces do not have great stores of food that can be turned loose to the public for an eating spree. They do have, however, an opportunity now to draw on reserve supplies that were a necessary factor as long as the war actually continued. Because of this and because of prospective reductions in the number of men and women in uniform, it is possible to make substantial cuts in military purchases which will make some more food available for civilians."

"To the farmers and gardeners of the nation, I want to emphasize this fact: The need is clear to go through with production schedules planned for this year. Moreover, the need for food will continue to be great next year."

"To all of you I want to say that I believe food can be one of the greatest forces of 'good' in the world now and for the future. Even though shortages will be less difficult in the months to come, let's not slacken in our efforts to produce and conserve it, nor in our efforts to use it to make stronger the peace that has now been won at such great cost in human misery and sacrifice."

Few gardeners realize the enormous reserves our country holds during peacetimes, reserves that have to be built back up again. There is no question but that fresh vegetables and fruits will be at a premium for some time.

Whittaker Warns About Socialism

Under a Socialistic government the high credit standing of B.C., built up during years of patient and skilful handling of finances, might be lost, Norman Whittaker, K.C., Coalition candidate in Saanich, said Thursday night. The financial credit of the province has been built up year after year until now British Columbia could borrow money at between 2 and 3 per cent interest, he told a meeting at the Temperance Hall, Keating.

Noting that the government had implemented the Sloan report on the Workmen's Compensation Act and had promised to implement the Cameron report on education costs, Mr. Whittaker said the findings of the Royal Commission on forestry would be promptly followed by government action.

The report of Chief Justice G. McG. Sloan on forest operations is expected to be filed with the government shortly following an inquiry started in February, 1944, and ended last summer.

W. D. Michell presided.

Social Credit. Dr. J. N. Halderman of Regina will address a public meeting tonight at The Kit Kat, 818 Douglas St., at 8. Subject: "The Real Truth About Politics in Saskatchewan." Maj. A. H. Jukes, D.S.O., O.B.E., Social Credit candidate for Victoria, will address the meeting on "Labor Strikes." Labor should hear this address.

Old Times Recalled By Former Fireman

Victoria, now observing National Fire Prevention Week, used to pay its firemen $14 a month, according to the recollections of 81-year-old Charles Palmer, who started running to fires with the local department at the age of 16 and served as a fireman for 30 years.

Mr. Palmer worked as a painter in the daytime, but slept in the firehall. The salary was raised later to $18 a month, of which $16 was paid out for board and $2 for washing.

After three years of driving the horse-drawn engine named after Mayor Grant, stationed at the Deluge Company firehall on Yates Street, Mr. Palmer was transferred to the present main fire station on Cormorant Street, which then included what is now the public market. There he took charge of the Preston hook and ladder truck, which he drove for 17 years.

He nearly lost an arm on the hook and ladder truck while the ladder was being raised on Pandora Avenue. He had climbed on the platform to release a catch. Firemen handling the ladder let go the handles, and the ladder caught the arm with which he sought to shield himself and broke it in 27 places.

HORSE SENSE

The horses Mr. Palmer drove were well trained. One day as he drove the reel around the corner by the Dominion Hotel, two children, the daughters of Henry Ball, got in the way of the racing truck.

"Dan," Mr. Palmer called to one of his team, "pick them up." The horse, Mr. Palmer recalls, lowered its head and pushed the children to one side.

Not only the horses were trained. The department had a dog named Bum, later given a regular funeral when run over by a fire truck, which on one occasion saved Mr. Palmer's life. Mr. Palmer was fighting a fire on the upper floor of a Johnson Street building when the dog climbed the ladder and tugged at his trouser leg. Judging that something was wrong, he climbed through a window onto a ladder. As he did so, the floor collapsed, fire having broken out on the floor below.

Mr. Palmer had his narrowest escape from death in a fire in the Victoria Theatre building at View and Douglas Streets. Trapped by flames, he breathed air from his fire-hose. Fireman Hugh Pettigrew broke eight axes chopping through concrete and glass to rescue him.

RHEUMATIC Pain Made Him Helpless as a Baby

"My husband suffered from rheumatic twinges off and on for 5 years," writes Mrs. Frank Chartrand, 116 Catherine St., N. Hamilton, "but 7 months ago he was suddenly stricken with a rheumatic pain in his back, so that he could not move and was as helpless as a baby. He had various treatments, but nothing seemed to help. Fortunately, a friend mentioned T-R-C's. Money cannot buy health, but it bought T-R-C's, and T-R-C's pulled my husband through. He was able to get up 3 days after he started to take T-R-C's. Today, he is no longer bothered with rheumatic pain."

Don't suffer needlessly from Rheumatic, Arthritic or Neuritic Pain and Stiffness. If you ache all over or are stiff and sore in joints and muscles, get quick relief with Templeton's T-R-C's. Used successfully by thousands who once suffered as you do now. T-R-C's are sold by druggists everywhere. 30c, 50c, 75c, 1.00.

Tommy Barton Returns Home

Staff Sgt. Tommy Barton, only Victorian among 35 repatriated ex-prisoners of the Japanese who arrived here Thursday afternoon from San Francisco by way of Vancouver, had little time to say anything before he was taken to Gordon Head camp for his medical examination. But he grinned as he said: "It's sure good to be back," and his joy on returning to his wife and home was obvious.

S. Sgt. Barton met on the wharf by his wife Eunice, who had received only three letters and one radio message from him since he was captured in the fall of Hongkong to the Japanese in 1941. After meeting the ship, Mrs. Barton returned to their home, 1421 Vancouver Street, to wait while her husband's examination at Gordon Head camp was completed.

The 35 liberated prisoners, dressed in American army clothing, stood on the foredeck of the S.S. Princess Victoria as she slid into her berth and were almost the last off the ship. Their meagre baggage was placed in a truck and they were quickly put aboard a bus for Gordon Head camp. Cigarettes were distributed to them in the bus.

Most of them looked fairly healthy, although somewhat tired and pale. S. Sgt. Barton was thinner than when he left, friends said. Cpl. Lionel Speller, another Longkong prisoner-of-war who arrived home earlier, was at the wharf to welcome the group.

The ex-prisoners arrived in San Francisco Oct. 6, came by train to Seattle, but missing the boat there, traveled on to Vancouver and crossed to Victoria by the afternoon boat.

S. Sgt. Barton, born in Victoria and educated at Sir James Douglas and Victoria High Schools, joined the army at the outbreak of war and went to Hongkong with the Royal Corps of Military Staff Clerks.

Bovine accumulated 49 points. Johnny Dewhurst was shaded for second place by Cuban Jockey Henry Palaez, who had 40 points.

Canada's Trade Opportunities With China Outlined

British Columbia is seeking an unlimited market and China is seeking almost unlimited supplies, Joseph Hope, Victoria-born Chinese who lived for 16 years in China, told Rotarians at luncheon in Empress Hotel Thursday in an address in which he outlined Canada's opportunities for trade.

"Germany and Japan's total trade with China in one year was more than $254,000,000; who is to secure that trade?" Mr. Hope asked.

Speaking on the day following the 34th birthday of the Chinese republic, Mr. Hope stated that Canada was entering upon a new era, the Pacific area. British Columbia, he said, was nearer to China than any other province, and added that "if we go for that trade at the right time we can make British Columbia ports the largest and most active ports in Canada."

He stressed China's ancient record for peace and prosperity and the long-standing friendship between Canada and China. He pointed out that Canada's exports and imports in 1937 were only 1.79 per cent and 1.85 per cent, respectively of China's total.

Frank Higgins, K.C., first president of the Rotary Club, was presented with a fountain pen by A. Victor Clarke, president.

Downed 11 Planes

Flt. Lt. Deryk Upton, D.F.C., a nephew of Dr. and Mrs. R. Moore, Duncan, is one of the few Canadian pilots who flew in the Battle of Britain still alive. He has 11 enemy aircraft confirmed and 16 probabilities to his credit. Joining the R.A.F. in May, 1939, Flt. Lt. Upton won his wings in time to fly in August and September, 1940.

He remembers the August day when with five other Hurricane pilots he sailed into a flight of 100 Germans. Five fell to his guns, two confirmed. A few days later he was with 11 other pilots who attacked 150 German aircraft. Again five went down to his credit, three confirmed. On each of these occasions Upton finished by baling out of his blazing Hurricane.

On his rest tour, Upton went to a fighter training unit and instructed George Beurling, the pilot who became Canada's top-scoring fighter. While instructing it was found he had a broken spine and he spent a year in hospital. He returned to Canada for a tour of instruction, arrived back in Europe just in time to see Germany collapse, and came back to Canada in September. He hopes to make the air force his career.

Family Allowance Head Visits Local Office

Application must be made before family allowances are payable, Russell B. Curry, Ottawa, national director of the family allowances branch, Department of National Health and Welfare, said on his arrival in Victoria Thursday.

Mr. Curry is on a three-day visit to the office of W. R. Bone, regional director of the family allowances branch at Victoria.

"Some persons have the mistaken idea that registration of a child or filling in of a family allowance form with employers constitute application," he said. "Those who fill out family allowance forms with employers and fail to apply for family allowances may be subject to deductions in income tax exemption without receiving the allowance." Payment of the allowance starts the month after application, Mr. Curry stated.

A New Era of PROGRESS for British Columbia

The vast reconstruction programme of the Coalition Government will build a greater British Columbia.

Tens of thousands of workers will be needed in the carrying out of this great, sound and comprehensive plan.

New modern highways — across the Province and to the North — will be built. Our present highways and side-roads will be rebuilt, extended and modernized.

British Columbia's magnificent natural parks will be developed for the enjoyment of her people.

Millions of dollars will be used for much needed new and modern public buildings and for the enlargement of the University.

THE PRODUCTION OF OUR GREAT FOREST INDUSTRY WILL BE ASSURED IN PERPETUITY.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION WILL BRING ELECTRIC LIGHT AND ELECTRIC APPLIANCES TO EVERY HOME AND FARM PRACTICABLE IN THE PROVINCE. THE DEVELOPMENT OF ELECTRICAL POWER WILL BRING NEW INDUSTRIES AND NEW EMPLOYMENT.

By the fulfilment of this programme 200,000 men and women -- wage earners in industry and on the farm -- will be assured a higher standard of living.

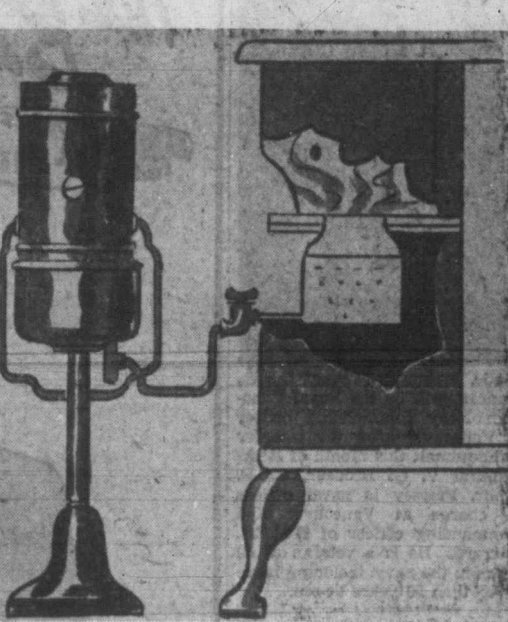

Make certain that this great modernizing, prosperity-building programme is carried out.

How You Can Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching, but you can easily see why such treatment will not correct the cause of your pain.

No lasting freedom from pile misery can be had unless the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to internal causes as the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Roid.

Hem-Roid is a formula that has been used for over 40 years by thousands of pile sufferers. It is a small, highly concentrated tablet, easy and pleasant to use. This cleverly compounded tablet formula directs its action to the relief of the congestion that is the real cause of your pain. Hem-Roid promotes free, easy and comfortable bowel movements, quickly relieves itching, irritation and soreness and stimulates better blood circulation in the lower bowel.

With good blood circulation in the lower bowel the painful pile tissue soon heal over leaving the sensitive rectal passage clean and healthy.

We invite you to try Hem-Roid and tell us what you think. You can make your test, in the privacy of your own home. NO COST! If you are not convinced that this is an amazingly easy and surprisingly effective method of treating your piles, return your Hem-Roid today from any drug store and we will refund your money.

NOTE: This generous offer is backed by a reliable firm doing business in Canada for a good many years. Hem-Roid must be taken as directed. It is a simple, easy test costs you nothing. Try it today.

N.H.A. PROCEDURE OUTLINED

A new booklet of the Rehabilitation Information Committee gives a clear outline of procedure for buying a home under the National Housing Act. Arranging the procedure by steps, the booklet says: 1. Get a questionnaire from a branch office of the N.H.A. or one of the approved lending institutions and answer all questions. 2. If your application is approved, get authority for expenditure of your re-establishment credit from the nearest office of the Veterans' Affairs Department. 3. Submit to a reliable contractor the specification booklet supplied by the lending institution. 4. Submit plans and specifications from the contractor to the lending institution. 5. Get a certificate from this institution for the supervisor of re-establishment credit, showing amount of loan and amount of approved lending value. 7. On approval by the lending institution, proceed to make arrangements to have the home built. It is your responsibility to see that the house is built in accordance with approved plans.

PLAYGROUND AS MEMORIAL

Described as Canada's first living memorial to those who died on foreign battlefields during the war, a new civic playground has been opened at Cowansville, Que. The playground was dedicated in opening ceremonies "to those who died that children might play."

1,400 ATTEND INSTITUTE

More than 1,400 ex-servicemen are at present enrolled in the Ontario Training and Re-establishment Institute, according to the Rehabilitation Information Committee at Ottawa. Similar centres are in operation in every province. The institute's vocational school provides instruction in 17 trades, ranging from plumbing to hairdressing. The building trades school comprises the largest single faculty, with a syllabus including courses in nine building trades. This school has inside it a two-story house. As soon as one class has completed building the house, another class tears it down and starts all over again. A recent addition to the curriculum of the institute is a horological school in which future watchmakers are trained.

MUST SEE W.P.T.B.

The veterans interested in opening a business of his own must see the Wartime Prices and Trade Board before investing. The Wartime Information Board points out. The W.P.T.B., function of which is to prevent prices and living costs from rising, will give the veteran all available information and help.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

LOOKING back over the world baseball series concluded Wednesday with a smashing Detroit triumph in the seventh and deciding game one comes across some interesting facts. First of all, every regular member of the champion Tigers, except the pitchers, is over 30 years of age. These veterans put on some great exhibitions of daffiness on the field from time to time but when the final chips were down they picked them up with alacrity. Probably all the silliness of the series could be wrapped up in two of the records. The Chicago Cubs scored 29 runs. No other club ever counted so many and still lost. Hal Newhouser was touched up for 14 earned runs. No other elbow ever came up with that many and still won. That's the kind of a series it was.

HANK GREENBERG was the big fellow in the forefront. Although he's slowed up 35 now, he was the glamour boy of the series in anybody's book. He hammered one homer that won a game, another that kept his ball club in it; thumped three doubles in one tilt; scored seven runs and knocked in seven. He wound up with a .304 batting mark, which, with his 1934 and 1940 batting, made him one of 13 men in all series history to go for 300 or better in three or more series. Phil Cavarretta, the Cubs' first-sacker and probably the most underrated man in the set, went Hank one better in this department. He was the number one ball-buster and came to the wire with a .423 mark, the second time he's run through a series at a snappy .400 or better.

FOR THOSE people who like to play a game of cribbage to while away an evening Leonard Coton comes up with some mighty smart scoring. Playing in a game with his son he held six successive 12 hands and followed them up with the dream of all crib players—a perfect 29. “Needless to say it was more than a double skunk,” Coton said.

IN A RECENT poll of returning war veterans by a prominent servicemen's magazine it was learned that 70 out of every 100 want to go fishing. And 62 of every 100 rate fishing next to hunting as their favorite recreation. Here's the score on the survey: Hunting 69.33, fishing 61.87, swimming 56.04, baseball 43.01, football 32.29, camping 31.61, motorboating 29.58, trapshooting 26.87, skating 26.05, golf 22.52, badminton 5.97, basketball 4.21 and riding 2.31. There is nothing new or surprising about these figures. Several years ago a magazine interviewed 5,000 representatives of various economic groups to ascertain that they preferred hunting or fishing to watching sports events.

Reject Proposal For Six-Man Lacrosse

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Lacrosse Association here Wednesday turned down a suggestion of the Quebec Association to play six-man lacrosse in place of the present seven-man game.

Quebec delegates said six-man lacrosse was played in that province during the last season and probably would play the same next season reverting to a seven-man game in the Mann Cup playdowns.

The Ontario Association suggested placing the goals 10 feet from the end boards to allow play behind the nets, and member association said some games would be played under this regulation next season and a report made at the next annual meeting.

JUNIOR SOCCER

The Junior and Juvenile Soccer League will welcome entries, particularly to the juniors (under 21 years) and the 5th division juveniles (under 13 years). Boys desiring to play soccer not affiliated with any team, please get in touch with Jas. Lees, 2531 Blanshard Street, phone E-5711, or come to the soccer school at the Eagles Home (ground floor), on View Street, Friday evenings.

City Button Golf Match Sunday

At the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday Fred Basanta and Freddy Painter will battle Bill and Walter Newcombe for possession of the city golf button. Play will start at 1.15.

Bob Morrison and Lieut. Roy Stranix won the button recently but had to default it back to the golf committee when the former took sick.

At a meeting last night the golf committee changed the date of the city golf championship with the final to be played in future on May 24 instead of Labor Day.

Nelson, Givan Blister Par In Seattle Tourney

SEATTLE (AP)—Toledo's king of golf, Byron Nelson, and the prince of the northwest amateurs, Harry Givan of Seattle, set a scorching pace through Broadmoor's fog-dampened fairways Thursday in opening the 72-hole, $10,250 Seattle open tourney. Nelson with a 62 and Givan with 66. Par for the route is 70.

Back in the groove after slipping badly in the Tacoma and Portland tournaments, Nelson's game was stretched on a tight wire from tee to green.

He slipped over par only once, taking a four on the lightly trapped fifth hole. His card showed five birdies for the rest of the route and his 31-31-62 missed by one stroke the course record held by Givan.

The home town amateur was at his best. Never bowing to par and collecting four birdies on close but well-stroked putts.

Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles was on Givan's heels with a 33-34-67, and Ed Turgol of Detroit was notched with Chuck Congdon of Tacoma at 68. The only other man under par was Jimmy Hines of Chicago, winner last Sunday of the Tacoma open, with 69.

WOOD RALLIES

The damp fairways and puzzling greens put a crimp in the game of many of the best known golfers. Chicago's Ky. Laf. foon turned the nine-hole corner in 42 and Fred Wood of Vancouver did it in 40, both finding their games at that point for sub-par second nines. Wood came back in 30—best nine of the day—and Lafoon was home in 32.

Wood's even par earned him a tie for seventh with Sgt. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco and Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me.

With Givan, Congdon and Wood all at par or better, the northwest had three men with the top nine. Wood was straight all the way, but he underclubbed himself on the first nine and couldn't make his chip shots hold.

Patrick Has New Problem

Two Star Goalkeepers

WINNIPEG (CP)—New York Rangers' biggest hockey worry during the last couple of seasons—the netminding chore—has a double-barreled solution this year with the return of Sugar Jim Henry and Charlie Raynor, two star goalkeepers.

However, the abundance of puck-stopping talent has also uncovered a problem, and Manager Lester Patrick said Thursday he has been considering the revolutionary idea of alternating goalies by periods.

"We might even go further," he said, "by changing netminders in mid-period if the goalie on the ice happens to be playing a little shakily—or is not feeling very well."

The idea, something new to pro hockey, is still only on paper, and Lester doesn't know as yet whether the Rangers will adopt the policy.

Rangers launched their training sessions yesterday and Coach Frank Boucher has a total of 31 players in camp, including more than a dozen former stars.

Patrick is still thinking of moving center Neil Colville back of the blueline, and with a plentiful supply of good center players working out this season, he figures it's a good year to experiment.

If Lynn Patrick manages to get a discharge from the U.S. army in time to play hockey, Lester said he might try to make a defenceman out of him as well, which would give the New York camp a pair of top-rushing rears on the carpet.

His game was in tune coming back, however, and he birdied the 11th, 12th, 14th and 17th, while never losing a stroke to par.

Hugh Morrison of Vancouver, D.C., and Jim Shriver of Seattle, former Spokane standout, trailed well back of Givan in the amateur class, Morrison with 71 and Shriver with 73.

Week-end Soccer Card

Three Games Scheduled

Teams of the Victoria and District Football League will engage in three matches over the weekend, with first place at stake. The schedule follows:

SATURDAY
Victoria West vs. Toppers, at Heywood Avenue.
V.M.D. vs. Navy, at Macdonald Park.

SUNDAY
Britannia Branch vs. Nanaimo, at Athletic Park.
All matches start at 2.30.

Winners of their first matches, the Wests and Toppers will fight it out for the number one position. The greenshirts, in their opening appearance, defeated Britannia Branch, while last Saturday the Toppers nosed out the Navy, 1 to 0. Wests will be without the services of Vince Clarkson, their goalie, tomorrow, but the aggressive Red McMillan will be back on the half line. Travis will take over in goal.

V.M.D. will trot out several new players against the Navy. After suffering an 8 to 2 setback at the hands of Nanaimo, the shipyarders set out to bolster their defence. They have secured Norm Baker for goal, while Doug Peden and Barney Barnswell will appear on the back line.

Britannia Branch have also signed five new players to strengthen their line-up for the game with Nanaimo. The newcomers are Tregallia, Felton, McDonald, McSweeney and Williams. Teams follows:

Toppers—Muir, Young, Bruce, Donaghy, Cried, Webster, R. Spiller, Stewart, N. Sage, Jenkins, Shalrock, Foreman, Bowles, Stone and Nicholas.
West—Travis, R. Bell, Young, McMillan, M. Spiller, C. Robbins, E. Barnswell, Mungrace, Hutchinson, G. Bell, Reside and Hutchinson.
V.M.D.—Baker, A. Barnswell, McCormick, Peden, Young, C. Robbins, Hols, Glancy, Payne, Parks, Dallimore, Wireman, J. Clark, Hurl and Holter.
Britannia Branch—Evans, McConnell, Wyatt, Watson, G. Sage, Barnes, Dunbar, Tregallia, McDonald, McSweeney, Felton, Williams and Walters.

Sheridan Hits Three-Run Homer To Whip Seattle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's Seals unlimbered their long-range batting guns again last night to defeat the Seattle Rainiers 7 to 4, taking a 3 to 2 edge in the Coast League Governors' Cup playoff finals.

With the score knotted at 4 to 4 in the last of the ninth, rightfielder Neil Sheridan blasted a three-run homer over the left field wall to give the Seals their second straight victory on their home grounds.

The sixth game of the seven-tilt series will be played tonight with the Rainiers depending on their reliable Joe Demoran, winner of three straight playoff games. He will be opposed on the mound by Bob Barthelson, who was charged with last Sunday's loss at Seattle. If a seventh and deciding game is necessary it will be played here Sunday afternoon.

CAME FROM BEHIND

San Francisco's victory last night gave their 31-game winner, Bob Joyce, his third triumph in four playoff starts, but again his teammates had to come from behind to save him from defeat.

The Rainiers stepped off to an early lead by scoring twice in the fifth on four singles, and added two more in the first of the seventh on a double, single and squeeze play.

Then in the last of the seventh the Seals powered their way to two tallies behind third baseman Ray Perry's opening double off the left field wall, and drove Hal Turpin to the showers with another two-run attack in the last of the eighth to knot the count.

The stage was set for Sheridan's circuit clot in the last of the ninth when relief pitcher Keith Frazier intentionally walked Bones Sanders with Berni Unalt on third and two men away.

It appeared to be good strategy since Sheridan had struck out, fouled out, popped up and flied out in four previous trips to the plate. But he got hold of a one-and-two pitch and lofted it over the fence.

Short score follows:

Seattle	R. H. E.
San Francisco	4 11 0
Seattle	7 13 4

Batteries: Turpin, Frazier (8) and Sweeney; Joyce and Sprinz, Ogdowski.

Mustangs In Battle With Seattle O'Dea

Regina Riders Invade Winnipeg To Meet Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Regina Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers pick up the threads of their western Canada football rivalry tonight when the teams meet here for the first time since the 1942 season.

Roughriders, who opened their football season Thanksgiving Day with a 28 to 4 triumph over Saskatchewan University Huskies, are not expecting too much, playing coach Don King said last night, but they hope to gain valuable experience which will stand them in good stead in 1946.

Some of the players left Regina last night and the rest of the team entrained for Winnipeg this morning. Their line-up is practically unchanged from that fielded against the Huskies.

Bombers, on the other hand, will present a slightly different line-up than the one used in their first two games against Minot State Teachers' College and North Dakota State.

A few casualties resulted from their game against the Dakotans and backfielders Norm Geller and Nate Shore will probably remain on the sidelines. Winnipeg's regular kicker, Harry Beckwith, has a bruised back but will probably be in the game.

Blue Bombers won't remain in Winnipeg for long after the game. They have another engagement to meet North Dakota University at Grand Forks, N.D., tomorrow afternoon.

Boasting a record of one win and two defeats in three starts Victoria Mustangs go up against one of the better known Seattle school teams tomorrow afternoon, when they engage O'Dea High at Athletic Park in an American football battle. Starting time is 2.30.

In their last appearance here Monday the Mustangs came through with their first victory, turning back Vancouver Bombers, and they will be out to make it two straight at the expense of the Washington club.

Coaches Bill Bishop, Jimmy Smith and George Hartnett put their charges through a stiff practice session Wednesday evening and last night the boys limbered up at a light workout.

Rynoski and Harper will handle the quarterbacking, while Al Denoni and Ray Mitchell, a pair of speedy backs who have been consistent ground gamblers, will see plenty of action. Husky Len Scott is expected to do most of the kicking.

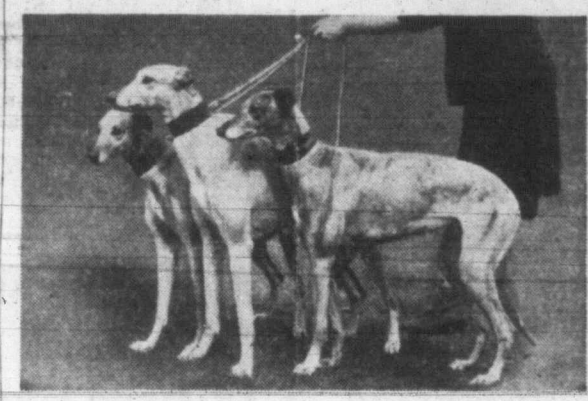

Little is known of the strength of O'Dea this season, but the Washington eleven have always come up with a strong club and last season took the measure of Vancouver College in their annual encounter.

LOCAL LINE UP

The following players will strip for the Mustangs:
Rynoski, Harper, Denoni, French, Ross, Mitchell, Joyce, Scott, Reeves and Amos, backfielders; O'Connell, O'Brien, Cole and Pegg, ends; Konkun, Quest, Brown and Kissingier, tackles; Clarkson, Turner, Lott and Barry, guards; Moonen and Slang, centres.

Ed Logan of Seattle will be referee with Alf Worthington as umpire and Harry Zaruk head linesman. Bert Davies will be timer.

Gordon Replies To Burton Statement

TORONTO (CP)—Donald Gordon, Prices and Trade Board chairman, said today in reply to criticism by C. L. Burton of the federal government's proposal to extend wartime legislation that "the elected representatives of the people are being given full opportunity to decide this vital question in accordance with the workings of our democratic system of government."

Mr. Burton, president of a large retail company, the Robert Simpson Company Ltd., charged that "the ruin of reconstruction is now being shaped in Ottawa."

Chairman Gordon's statement in reply said in part:

"The proposed legislation, as I understand it, is intended to continue emergency powers during the emergency period to deal with the consequences of war. I have pointed out in recent statements . . . that a hasty abolition of the price ceiling and wage salary controls or related controls, such as rationing and other distribution restrictions necessary to ensure a fair share of goods which continue in short supply, would lead inevitably to a serious inflation and a bad breakdown in the distribution of such goods."

Power Commission Will Receive Second $10,000,000, Says Hart

By Canadian Press
Announcement by Premier John Hart that the British Columbia government will allocate another $10,000,000 for further development of power in B.C. highlighted the provincial election campaign Thursday night.

Mr. Hart, speaking at Grand Forks in support of T. A. Love, Coalition candidate, said authorization of the additional sum would bring the total for rural electrification and industrial expansion in B.C. to $20,000,000.

The Premier said the extra sum was for the purpose of carrying out extension of services to rural homes and farms, acquisition of more utility plants and for the generation of more power.

At Revelstoke, Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C., told of the Coalition government's record and in reference to relations of the government with labor, said B.C. had a better strike record than any province in Canada or any state in the United States.

LEADERS CROSS SWORDS

He referred to C.C.F. Leader Harold Winch as the "ill-informed youngster, who spends so much time criticizing me that he never hears what I say."

And at Salmon Arm, Mr. Winch said the Attorney-General "is becoming a very definite stranger to truth, or uses it sparingly. Mr. Maitland's only policy is to attack the C.C.F. and particularly Harold Winch," said the C.C.F. leader.

The only reason for the Coalition, he added, was to stop the "people's party from giving the people the government they want."

Nigel Morgan, provincial leader of the Labor Progressive Party—which is seeking 21 of the 48 seats in the Legislature—told listeners at a campaign meeting in Vancouver the C.C.F. Party in Manitoba was "following the same anti-unity policy" as the B.C. section of the C.C.F. "and that would be responsible for the return of the Manitoba Coalition government in that province's Oct. 15 general election."

Speaking at the same meeting, A. A. MacLeod, L.P.P. member of the Ontario legislature for Toronto-Bellwoods, criticized the C.C.F. refusal to consider electoral unity with the L.P.P.

"Labor unity," he said, "is the atomic energy of politics . . . If reaction should win in this election, then the necessity for unity will not only continue but become greater."

Another member of the L.P.P., Austin Delaney, candidate in North Vancouver, spoke of housing. He said his party's proposal for construction of 30,000 houses in B.C. would "not only break the back of the housing crisis, but would be a large step toward full employment."

WOULD SET ASIDE ELECTION

C. Grant MacNeill, C.C.F. campaign manager, announced citizens in the Cariboo district are circulating a petition seeking to set aside the provincial election on the ground the government failed to comply with legal requirements in preparing voters' lists.

In a statement issued at Vancouver, Mr. MacNeill said that according to information received from Charles Thomas, C.C.F. candidate in Cariboo, necessary registration forms were not available in his riding until Sept. 18—the day after the voters' list closed.

MRS. HODGES AT NANAIMO

Speaking at Nanaimo, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition candidate in Victoria, answered criticism from the C.C.F. that the government had no minimum wage scale for domestic or farm help by saying that so far it had been impossible to strike a basic minimum wage because of the wide range of jobs.

A maid in a family with five children had a different job than a maid in a family of two.

She said there was no reference to minimum wages for farm and domestic help in the minimum wage laws enacted by the Saskatchewan C.C.F. government.

Campaign In Britain To Prevent Influenza Epidemic This Winter

LONDON (CP)—Amid official expressed fears that undernourished Europe is ripe for an influenza epidemic this winter, the British Ministry of Health is renewing its annual "handkerchief campaign" against the spread of respiratory diseases.

Throughout the war years Britons were urged unceasingly to avoid conditions leading to colds, and instructed how to nurse them if once contracted. Newspaper advertisements, posters, broadcasts, public meetings and press articles proclaimed the slogan: "Coughs and sneezes spread diseases."

The public is exhorted to avoid crowded places when colds are prevalent; to keep fit by eating the right food, including fat rations, to take as much fresh air exercise as possible and to keep room well ventilated.

Much of the ministry's campaign falls in the easier-said-than-done category, for it's hard to find a place in London that isn't crowded and officials urging consumption of a proper diet are forced to add wryly: "When you can get it."

Most rooms suffer from too much ventilation and with coal in short supply "normal" room temperature differs little from the temperature outside.

Consequently the emphasis is on what is most practicable—the war against the "open sneeze," and people with coughs and sneezes are made to feel like public enemies if they don't effectively muffle their convulsions.

No Purchasing Power In Bank Reform—Jukes

Nationalization of banks would in no way increase the ratio of purchasing power to prices, Maj. A. H. Jukes, Social Credit candidate in Victoria, told an election rally at Boilermakers' Hall.

Answering questions on nationalization of the Bank of England, Maj. Jukes said taking the profits out of banks and out of industry—transferring them from one group to another group—simply decreased the opportunity of the expansion of industry because this expansion was done from the people's savings and from the profits of industry.

"The manner in which the four parties hope to cope with the chronic insufficiency of purchasing power is by planning for the tremendous expansion of industry and, in confusion, hope to cover up this shortage," he said.

"The expansion of industry would not in any way increase the ratio of purchasing power one iota. Therefore there would be still more unpurchasable goods produced resulting not in distributing these goods to the people at home, but in fighting for foreign markets while our own people continue to go without."

'Are You Happy to See Me, Dad?'

One of the most touching reunions of families at the arrival of the U.S. transport Ss. Gosper was that of Mrs. G. R. Dunn and her repatriate father, Pte. John Downey, Winnipeg Grenadiers. She is shown here, accompanied by her husband, as she greets her father. When Pte. Downey left Winnipeg for Hongkong, his wife and daughter stayed behind. But his daughter was married and came to Victoria, news of which did not reach him until a few days ago at Manila. Mrs. Dunn lives at 10 Ascot Apartments.

Victory Banquet For Detroit Club

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit paid homage Thursday night to the Tigers, 1945 world baseball champions. More than 1,200 fans turned out for a victory banquet given the Tigers by the Board of Commerce. It cost the fans $10 a plate.

Principal gift went to Ed Mierkiewicz, a rookie outfielder who won a 1946 automobile in a draw. Each player received from the fans silver bowls and gifts from merchants, including bill-folds, robes, candy, clothing and hunting equipment.

Japanese Are Not Beyond Redemption Lecturer Believes

Prospects for the redemption of Japan are by no means hopeless said Sir Robert Holland in an address to the Victoria Authors' Association Thursday evening.

Sir Robert told of his own experience among the Japanese before the war. He had found them a kind and hospitable people, while their love of children and of nature, as evidenced in their cherry blossom festivals, showed them to be endowed with some of the finer instincts of humanity. He told of white men he had known who had married Japanese and others who had made their home there, some of them even during the war. One was an Englishman, Sir Thomas Batey, a man of acute legal mind who had deliberately chosen to make himself one with them.

For the sadism and horrible atrocities committed by the Japanese during the war Sir Robert had nothing but condemnation. It was an instance of the truth that power has always a tendency to corrupt. There was some underlying savagery in most of us and in war it would come out. Still no punishment could be too severe for those who inflicted it on helpless prisoners. Japan was like a bursting beehive constricted to break its bonds, and this accounted for much that followed.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by A. H. Sutherland, who pointed out the speaker's eminent fitness to deal with his subject, following a long career in responsible positions in the Orient.

D. J. McLeod read a paper dealing with technique and methods of short story writing.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, in Supreme Court, awarded Muriel Evelyn Jackson the sole custody of her infant son, Kenneth Winston, pending hearing of her suit for judicial separation from her husband, Albert James Jackson. Sinclair Elliott appeared for Mrs. Jackson. A. J. Helmecken was counsel for Mr. Jackson.

Representing Victoria at the meeting will be Straith and

Army Investigates Report Repatriates Being Overcharged

Rumors and complaints that British and Canadian repatriates here are being charged as high as $50 for a bottle of bootleg liquor are being investigated by army officials, an informed source said today.

The new allegations follow other rumors that some men have been charged as high as $10 or $15 for the trip from the city to Gordon Head camp. Most of the overcharges occur after midnight, the rumors allege.

Saanich police said today there was no by-law in that municipality covering taxi charges and that, as yet, no complaints had been laid with them. However, they added, if complaints had been lodged with them, they would be able to do something about the allegations.

Elsewhere in Victoria, however, generosity and gratitude of the citizens is apparent and many offers of hospitality have been issued the men.

Canadian Legion officials suggest, though, the best gesture people could make would be to ask the men to their homes or for a drive as they meet them on the street, as the camps have been swamped with invitations for the men and arrangements have been hard to make regarding acceptance of the invitations.

"It has been most difficult to make arrangements because the men are exceedingly busy, are hard to find and very often have made plans to visit the city with their friends.

Hongkong shoulder patches, bearing the white initials "H.K." on a red background, have been issued the men.

In addition to individual hospitality offered the repatriates here, the Canadian Legion and, Red Cross are busy with their joint "Welcome Home" work.

Costs of operation and providing free supplies have been divided equally between the two organizations, and every repatriate is being met by joint groups of ladies from both organizations.

Coroner's Jury Finds Death Was Accidental

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death today at an inquest into the death of 81-year-old Clark H. Hutson, 2511 Turner Street, who died in hospital early Tuesday from injuries sustained when he was struck by a streetcar on Esquimalt Road near Fraser Street.

The inquest was held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel under Coroner E. C. Hart. Evidence was given that Mr. Hutson had been walking along the car tracks at the time of the accident.

Mr. Hutson came to Victoria in 1918 from the prairies. He was retired, and had formerly been a farmer. He is survived by his wife.

Laurel Harney, others attending will include Bob Brown of Vancouver, William Klepper, representing Salem; E. Collins of Spokane and "Junior" Mercy, representing Yakima.

Abel will represent the Tacoma club, which to date has not come up with a new holder for the franchise.

Community Chest Office to Remain Open Another Week

With only $5,000 to go to raise the $83,000 quota for the Community Chest, officials have decided to keep the office on Fort Street open until the end of next week so that contributors may bring in their donations.

Officials are pressing those who made small donations to bring in another dollar to the campaign office and put the campaign over the top and ensure that the 20 member agencies who do the charity and welfare work of Greater Victoria are able to carry on for the coming year.

Three divisions have passed their quota according to the auditor's report Thursday. The residential canvass now has $22,000 on a $21,000 quota; business division have raised $7,079 on a quota of $6,500; and hotels have turned in $1,207 on a quota of $1,000.

Nearing their quota are commercial division, $2,950 on a quota of $3,500; public services, $3,268 on a quota of $4,000, and outside, $652, quota $700.

The industrial division with only $1,930 on a quota of $3,000, continues to lag. The special names division now has $58,558 on a quota of $43,500, which is materially behind collections in this division at the same time last year.

Campaign officials feel that now they are so near achieving the quota the last $5,000 should come in fairly easily if Victorians will co-operate and bring in the donations.

School Inspector Arrives in City

J. F. K. English, Victoria's new municipal inspector of schools, and successor to H. L. Campbell, who is now chief inspector of schools for the province, arrived in Victoria today to take over his duties.

He will spend the next week in Victoria, he said, getting started on his new job and then return to Trail to clear up a number of details and see about bringing his wife and 14-year-old son to Victoria. Like many others his chief problem now is finding a home into which he can move his family. Another son, 18 years old, is attending University of B.C. as a second-year student in applied science.

Mr. English has been provincial inspector of schools for the past seven years, four of these spent as a director of education in the Peace River educational administrative area.

He has 14 years' experience as a high and junior high school principal, and for 10 of these was principal of the Kamloops Junior-Senior High School, where there are academic, commercial and technical departments. He also had a short period of elementary school teaching experience.

In 1943 he went to Trail-Ross-

ANY REQUEST FOR A

Tory Press Hits British Plan To Take Over Bank

LONDON (AP)—The Conservative press attacked the new Labor government's first legislation—a bill for public ownership of the Bank of England—by denouncing today to know how the government would employ the power it would thus obtain to issue directives to other banks.

One clause of the bill, which was introduced in the House of Commons on Wednesday, would continue the Bank of England's traditional method of making recommendations to other banks, but specifies that under treasury authorization it may "issue directions to any banker" to back up its requests.

"That is bigger in its implications than nationalizing the Bank of England," commented Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express.

"This single sentence in the bill may provide the government with the powerful control of the whole of industry. One group of industries may find itself starved of credit while another enjoys the full confidence of the government."

Lord Rothermere's London Daily Mail said the clause was "the big surprise" of the bill.

The London Times questioned how far the power of direction would be exercised "by a policy of persuasion and incentive or by the coercive resources of direct control exercised by the bank."

Bank of England stock Wednesday climbed another 4½ points to £93 ($418), highest in history.

3,272 New Beds For Invalid Veterans

OTTAWA (CP)—Accommodation in hospitals operated by the Pensions Department has increased from 3,588 beds in 1939 to 6,864 and will be further expanded by new constructions.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie said Thursday.

Whole Nazi Party Under Indictment

NEW YORK (AP)—A London dispatch to the New York Post said today the four-power indictment of 24 top Nazis for trial at Nuremberg would establish the principal that Germany criminally waged war against her own people as well as others.

The indictment, drawn up by American, British, Russian and French legal staffs, is to be presented to Hermann Goering and his 23 fellow defendants soon, probably next week.

"The whole Nazi party—its ruses, its aggressions and its raw brutality—will be condemned," the Post said.

Chandler Decries 'Smear Campaign'

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)—United States Senator-Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler said at his home today he "obviously" had been attacked in an organized smear campaign designed to discredit him in his new baseball office.

Referring to published reports that differences of opinion existed between himself and baseball club owners and that the owners were attempting to buy off his commissioner contract, Chandler said:

"It is obvious there has been a smear campaign worked up against me which has been paid for. I don't know who was behind it and I am not interested, because it didn't get any place. My position is solid."

Charges Britain With Economic War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Morse (Rep.-Ore.) today accused the British of "following a policy of economic war" against the United States.

Morse joined a protest on the Senate floor by Senator Moore (Rep.-Okla.) against what Moore termed "arbitrary action" by the British government on American oil interests.

War Pension Total July, $17,144,346 Increasing Rapidly

OTTAWA (CP)—Veterans' pensions granted from the Second Great War carried an annual liability of $17,144,346 at July 31, and are increasing at the rate of about $1,000,000 a month.

Veterans' Minister Mackenzie said Thursday in a statement at a meeting of the Commons veterans affairs committee.

In the First Great War the highest pension liability figure reached was $4,858,377 in 1932—14 years after the end of the war. Present liability for First Great War pensions was $37,147,677.

At July 31, 33,535 pensions for death or disability had been approved. Pensions as a result of service by men outside Canada numbered 28,080 and by men in Canada 4,813. There were 108 pension awards to women in the forces and 462 awards to civilian classes protected by the Pensions Act.

Film to Reveal Brain Workings Of Young Murderer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Crown Prosecutor G. Scott said Thursday day study of a film which shows the workings of a brain and the written report of a psychiatrist will decide whether a 12-year-old boy who confessed murdering a child is fit to stand trial.

The boy has been held in custody since mid-September following the finding of the body of four-year-old Dianne Blunt. Her battered body was found in a grave near her east-end Vancouver home.

Since the high school boy confessed killing the girl, psychiatrists have been making exhaustive tests. A film was made with a machine which recorded electrical impulses emanating from the brain. The machine has been used to detect brain disorders or abnormalities.

The film was sent to Ottawa and Mr. Scott said he is awaiting its return before a decision is made whether the boy will stand trial.

90 Canadians From Orient Land in U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—More than 2,800 servicemen and civilians, including 103 Americans and 90 Canadian who had been Japanese prisoners, arrived here Thursday aboard army and navy transports.

The navy hospital transport Rixley carried 1,065 passengers, including the 103 American civilians and the Canadian servicemen.

Twelve ships carrying 2,224 personnel are scheduled to dock tomorrow.

The DOCTOR Says:

FLUORINE IN WATER COMBATS DENTAL DECAY
By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Children reared in areas where the water contains an excessive amount of fluorine may have unsightly teeth, but their teeth resist decay, and from this discovery developed the possibility of fluorine as a preventive of dental caries.

Wallace D. Armstrong, M.D., University of Minnesota, analyzed sound and decayed teeth and found the fluorine content of the enamel of decayed teeth was 62 per cent less than that of sound teeth. He believes that once fluorine is deposited in the enamel, it remains permanently.

As dental decay decreases in proportion to the amount of fluorine in the water, the problem was to find how much fluorine the water should contain to cause the least discoloration of teeth but develop good resistance to decay. It developed that one part of fluorine to one million parts of water was the best solution, and engineers can now increase or decrease the fluorine in our water supplies to this ideal standard.

NOT COMPLETE PREVENTIVE
Fluorine is not an absolute preventive of dental caries, but it does hold the disease in check. Children who spend the first eight years of their life drinking water with the ideal fluorine content receive the most benefit from its use.

John W. Knutson, D.D.S., United States Public Health Service, and Dr. Armstrong conducted experiments on Minnesota children. The teeth on one side of the mouth were treated with a 2 per cent solution of sodium fluoride. The other side of the mouth was used as a control. Seven to 15 treatments were given over a period of eight weeks and at the end of a year the treated side showed a 40 per cent reduction in decay.

TASTE NOT AFFECTED
Grand Rapids, Mich., and Newburgh, N.Y., have brought the fluorine content of their water supplies to about one part per 1,000,000 and it will be kept at this level for at least 10 years. This does not alter the taste of the water or have any effect upon the teeth after they are formed.

Fluorine studies do not answer all the questions on dental decay, but use of fluorine is one means of helping to control the disease.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges will speak over CJVI Friday night, 10.15 and she's always worth listening.

Map of the New World which was made in 1492. Note that a part of North America was given the mistaken name of Cathay.

Also it was good for Columbus himself. He was prepared for a voyage of a few months, not for one which might last a year or two. If land had not halted his trip, he probably would have been lost, with all his men, before reaching Asia.

As it was, Columbus found the Bahama Islands during his first voyage. He felt sure that these islands were close to India, and gave the natives the mistaken name of "Indians." People who may be called "true Indians" live in India, but it has become the common custom to speak of the New World natives as Indians. Sometimes these people are given the special name of "American Indians."

Columbus made other voyages. He reached Cuba and Puerto Rico, and sailed along the northern coast of South America. He failed to find a single one of the known cities of India or the East Indies, but we are told that he kept his belief to the end of his life that he had found islands near Asia.

Sixteen years after Columbus died, some of the men who had traveled with Magellan finished a trip around the world. They had skirted the southern end of South America, and had reached islands near Asia.

That voyage, and others, gave new facts about geography, but people had only a dim knowledge of the shapes of the continents. As late as 1531, a map of the New World was made, and land in the area of Mexico was marked "Cathay!"

Uncle Ray

COLUMBUS GAVE AMERICAN INDIANS THEIR MISTAKEN NAME

Christopher Columbus was right when he believed that India could be reached by traveling westward, instead of eastward. What he failed to take into account was the fact that some little fleet block the way of his little fleet. That "something" was the land of the New World. Stretching from the Arctic Sea in the north to the Antarctic in the south, this land formed a real blockade.

We are glad, of course, that the continents of North and South America did stand in the way of Columbus. Without land on this part of the globe, the world would be a much less interesting place to live in. Europe probably would be more crowded than it is today.

'Rebecca' Opens Tonight at Royal

Tonight and Saturday night at 8.30 "Rebecca" will be the attraction on the stage of the Royal with Diana Barrymore and Bramwell Fletcher co-starring in the leading roles of the second Mrs. de Winter and her husband Maxim. Ethel Griffies, at the head of the New York cast, is featured as the sinister Mrs. Danvers.

No novel or motion picture in recent years has created a greater furore than Daphne du Maurier's story of Manderley, the ancestral estate in Cornwall, to which Maxim de Winter brought his young bride. Dramatized by the novelist herself, the stage play of "Rebecca" embodies all those qualities which fascinated readers of the book and, because the stage is unhampered by the strict censorship which prevails in Hollywood, comes closer to the real Rebecca than could the film version.

'Wildfire' Begins At Dominion

"Wildfire," the unusual story of a horse, presented by action pictures and coming to the Dominion Theatre today, lovers of outdoor pictures will have the thrill of enjoying a new type of wild horse picture. "Wildfire" tells of a beautiful stallion who rules his land with a loving "hoof," and who is made the goat of a gang of land-grabbing crooks by being accused of stealing horses from the surrounding ranchers. He is wounded by some honest ranchers, who believe he is responsible for the disappearance of their horses, but, before they can finish him off he is saved by two men who are newcomers in the land. The amazing performance of this animal when he comes to the rescue of the men who saved his life is worth the price of admission alone. "Wildfire" stars Bob Steele with sterling Holloway, John Milgan and Sarah Padden, William Harnum and Virginia Maples.

Job Lectures Given At Service Camps

A program of lectures and films outlining employment possibilities for men throughout the province, is now under way in army camps at Victoria and Nanaimo. G. J. Davidson, deputy regional employment officer and supervisor of general placements with the National Employment Service, said in Victoria, today. The program will include films and lectures on mining, logging, textile manufacture, agriculture, fishing, plastics pulp and paper manufacturing and light manufacturing of all types.

There will be a showing one afternoon a week at Work Point Barracks here and at Nanaimo, which is a holding unit for men awaiting discharge. The program opened at Work Point yesterday and the men showed great interest.

Similar programs will be arranged next week for navy and air force personnel awaiting discharge. Speakers will be men from the provincial government service and private industry.

Says L.P.P. Stands For Labor Unity

Pledging his support to a program which included building of 20,000 homes, Robert Kerr, Labor Progressive Party candidate in Victoria, Thursday night urged public ownership of hydro-electric power, a public works program for improved roads, bridges, irrigation projects, schools and public buildings.

"The reactionary Coalition of Maitland and Hart can be defeated only if the forces for progress unite on a basis of the needs of the common people of B.C.," he said.

Robert Mezer, speaking for Mr. Kerr, stressed the need of achieving labor electoral unity to defeat the Tory-Liberal Coalition.

"In denying support to the proposal of the B.C. Federation of Labor for electoral unity, the C.C.F. acts in opposition to the desires of the largest section of labor in B.C.," he said.

"A vote for the L.P.P. is a vote for labor unity," he concluded. D. Fitzgerald was chairman.

ATLAS THEATRE

"Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe," the dazzling new 20th Century-Fox technicolor musical starring Betty Grable and Dick Haymes, is the first picture ever made with the famous restaurant in New York's Times Square district as its background. "To literally take the movie audience inside the celebrated nightclub restaurant, one entire stage at 20th Century-Fox was converted into an exact duplicate of the famous white-and-gold-and-scarlet room whose bar is used as a runway for the beauties who have become the talk of Broadway. The film is now at the Atlas Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE

Dr. Ordway Warner Baxter), famous psychoanalyst of radio's great serial, "Crime Doctor," is once again setting his trap for criminals in Columbia Pictures' latest in their series of screen adaptations, "The Crime Doctor's Courage," currently playing at the Plaza Theatre.

The modern "Bluebeard," dancing vampires, defiant monsters, daring novelists and jealous lover, all are suspects in this fascinating story of a beautiful bride stalked by death. Only the "Crime Doctor" knows which one is the killer.

Besides the picture's star, Warner Baxter, the cast includes Hilary Brooke, Jerome Cowan, Robert Scott and Stephan Crane. Based on the radio program by Max Marcin, the original story and screen play were written by Eric Taylor. It was directed by George Sherman.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Blazing with action that's tough and love that's tough, "Nob Hill," spectacular new drama-with-music hit, starring George Raft, Joan Bennett, Vivian Blaine and Peggy Ann Garner, is at the Capitol Theatre. Set in the rowdy and roisterous hey-day of San Francisco's fabulous Barbary Coast—when girls kicked highest, fists crashed hardest and blood ran hottest, "Nob Hill" is being acclaimed as hitting an all-time high in enthralling screen entertainment. Featured in the outstanding cast of the film, are Alan "Falstaff" Openshaw, Reed, B. S. Pully, Emil Coleman and Edgar Barrier. Three scintillating new hit songs by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson are introduced in the picture directed by Henry Hathaway and produced by Andre Daven.

YORK THEATRE

June Lockhart, daughter of stage and screen stars Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, launches her recently signed Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract by portraying the important role of Lucille Ballard in the technicolor film, "Meet Me in St. Louis," starring Judy Garland, which is currently at the York Theatre.

Miss Lockhart, who made her professional debut in the Metropolitan Opera House at the age of eight years with Edward Johnson and Lucretia Bori, has been appearing in films, off and on, for five years. She took 16 months out of this time to work in the Collegienne section of an exclusive Los Angeles store because she felt that she needed this experience.

Born in New York City, Miss Lockhart accompanied her parents to Hollywood when she was nine. She attended Foxwood, Long Island, New York, and Westlake School for Girls in Los Angeles.

premises for a shoe repair shop and a request to convert a single-family into a two-family dwelling was also disallowed. Two requests for alterations on dwellings were tabled.

Aviation Council To Meet Nov. 6 and 7

Formation of a Dominion-wide air council to deal with international aviation matters will be considered at the second provincial air conference of the B.C. Aviation Council to be held in Penticton, Nov. 6 and 7.

W. T. Straith, K.C., of Victoria, has been asked to serve as chairman of one of the sessions. He is a director of the council.

Other matters to be considered at the conference will be redrafting of the constitution. It is also suggested that for part of the time the conference be divided into discussion groups each handling different phases of aviation.

Invited to speak at the sessions have been Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe, A. D. McLean, controller of civil aviation, Ottawa; D. W. Douglas, president of Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, Calif.; Dr. E. Waner, head of the interim council, International Civil Aviation Organization; H. J. Symington, president, Trans-Canada Airlines; Ronald A. Keith, editor, "Civil Aviation," published by McLean Hunter Publishing Co.; Sqn. Ldr. A. W. Carter, president of the Air Cadet League of Canada; Earl Brett of Chilliwack, and Grant McConachie, manager of Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

Logging, Construction Jobs in Majority

Logging, sawmill and construction firms are still offering the largest number of job opportunities, according to figures released by the National Employment Service here, C. A. Mudge, manager, said today.

Of 795 vacancies listed for men this week there are 140 openings in logging, 48 in sawmills and 85 in construction work, he said. Some 85 are needed in hotels and laundries. There are 269 vacancies for women and of that number 105 are in hotels, restaurants and laundries and 25 in hospital services.

Round-up

By TOM MERRIMAN

VETERANS Minister Mackenzie says September reports show that less than one-third of the fighting forces released to civilian life are actually hunting jobs. Nearly half the veterans have jobs, farms or businesses to which they are returning and about one veteran in seven had a new job available. University and vocational training and settlement on the land absorbs the remainder.

With a TOTAL membership now of 724,188, union membership in Canada trebled during the war years. At the end of 1944 there were 4,123 branch and local unions on record. British Columbia has 90,702 members of unions.

With AGRICULTURAL and vegetable products leading the advance, the domestic merchandise export trade of Canada is increasing as the export of war materials declines. It was up more than 14 per cent in August. Agricultural and vegetable exports for August were more than double those of a year ago.

PRIVILEGE of wearing good conduct badges which represent three years' service during which conduct has been assessed as "very good" has now been extended to Wrens. The badge is a large gold chevron, worn on the left arm.

LABOR Minister Mitchell is out to secure an all-time high number of workers in the woods this fall and winter. Fifty thousand more men are needed, he says, and home building in Canada will be helped or hindered next year to a large extent by the cut of saw logs in the woods during this winter.

A SILVER Maltese Cross, the top arm surmounted by a crown and the remaining three by maple leaves, is being given to the mothers and widows of men and women who died in service during the war.
